Port authority part of industry draw

Port Authorities are not enough to attract industry to an area, a complete package of sites and facilities must be offered, Mike Houston, director of Government Services in Jefferson City said Wednesday night.

Houston spoke to area government leaders at a meeting at Ramada Inn designed to explore the mechanics of establishing a port authority in the Bootheel.

The proposed port authority would include Pemiscot, New Madrid, Mississippi, Scott, Cape Girardeau and Perry Counties.

Southeast Missouri can take the lead in developing a package to attract industry under the port authority bill, Houston said.

The package must consist of the port authority, railroad lines, access to interstate highway, buildings, and utilities.

The more the area has to sell, the better chance the area has of attracting industry, he added.

Cities and counties are allowed to establish port authorities under a bill passed this session in the legislature and due to be signed next week by Gov. Christopher Bond.

To qualify for a port authority the city or county must be located adjacent to a navigable waterway.

Leaders of the Wednesday night's discussion stressed the need for multi-county port authorities to off-set the political power of St. Louis in obtaining approval and funds for port authorities.

The reason for creating port authorities is their attractiveness to industry. Once a port authority is created, facilities can be built and financed through revenue bonds.

The authority could build a facility for a business with revenue bonds at six or seven per cent instead of bank interest rates of 11 or 12 per cent. The bonds would be repaid out of rent the business paid for the facility.

In addition, a harbor for river traffic would give businesses access to low- cost transportation. River shipping rates are said to be lower than either trains or trucks.

Those seemed to be in general agreement that it was necessary for area cities and counties to work together to create large port authorities.

The plan tentatively calls for a regional port authority comprising the six counties, subdivided into two districts. Perry, Cape Girardeau and Scott County will be located in one district and Mississippi, New Madrid and Pemiscot Counties in the other.

It is impossible for individual cities to put facilities on the river, Pat Lea, director fo the Bootheel Regional Planning

E. Prairie man given 2 years

CHARLESTON — Larry Johnson of East Prairie was sentenced Tuesday by Circuit Judge Marshall Craig to two years in the State Department of Corrections after he entered a plea of guilty to a stealing charge.

The charge against Johnson stemmed from the Nov. 1, 1973 theft of a portable television, combination stereo and speakers from the Melvin Guinn home located near East Prairie. Johnson was given credit for 12 days spent in jail prior to sentencing.

Jerry Husketh of Charleston, who entered a voluntary plea of guilty to a statutory rape charge on May 31, was given a suspended two year sentence and placed on two year probation on condition he obey the law, pay court costs and remain under the supervision of his probation officer. The charge against Husketh was in connection with the Jan. 23 rape of a Charleston girl under the age of 16.

Roger Mannon of East Prairie withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty to a statutory rape charge, stemming from the Feb. 4 rape of an East Prairie girl under the age of 16. Mannon received a suspended two year sentence and was placed on three year probation on conditions he obey the law, pay court costs and remain under the supervision of his probation officer.

A one year sentence in the county jail assessed Fletcher Allen of Charleston on a fraudulent check charge was suspended and he was placed on two year probation. Allen, who entered a voluntary plea of guilty to passing a $10 check at the Martin Oil Co. in Charleston on Oct. 21, 1973, was ordered to remain under the supervision of his probation officer, obey the law, pay court costs and not frequent taverns or become intoxicated.

Albertine Johnson of Charleston, whose punishment was taken under advisement after she pleaded guilty May 14 to a forgery charge, was given a suspended one year jail sentence and placed on two year probation. Miss Johnson was charged with forging the name of Guy Eula Johnson to a $121 check and passing it at Cecil's Tobacco Store in Charleston on or about Jan. 15.

Final decrees of dissolution of marriage were granted Peggy B. Moore and William G. Moore; Alouise Carter Fenton and Thomas Page Fenton.

Cline will comply with campaign law

State Rep. C. F. Cline, D-Sikeston, today announced plans to comply with the provisions of the proposed campaign expenditure law, even though the proposal was not passed by the legislature.

Cline made the announcement at a press conference in his district office in the Sikeston Activity Center on South Kingshighway.

He urged all other candidates to comply with the proposal.

The rules Cline will abide by include, listing by name anyone who contributes more than $25, filing a report listing expenditures and contriubution with the county clerks of Scott and Stoddard counties and with the Secretary of State, 30 days before and 30 days after the election.

Cline added he will limit his expeditures to 10 cents per voter, based on the number of people who voted in the last Presidential election. That would limit his expenditures to about $2,300.

He named Joseph Craven jr., 6 Beaird Drive, as chairman of the Cline for Representative Committee. Mrs. Dorris Stephens, 932 David Blvd., has been appointed treasurer.

Cline also announced that Mrs. Marge Lemmons of Salcedo has been hired as a part-time secretary for his district offices in Sikeston and Bloomfield.

The Sikeston office will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Thursday. The Bloomfield office will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Lemmons previously spent four years with the Bell City office of the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corp.

Cline said that each member of the legislature is allowed to hire a secretary for their home office up to 50 hours per month.

Bruce Allen

Noranda to double capacity

Bruce R. Allen, vice president and general manager of Noranda Aluminum Inc., announced today the company's intention to add 70,000 tons of annual capacity to its aluminum reduction plant in St. Jude Industrial Park.

Allen said that construction would begin shortly and that the additional capacity should come on stream during 1976.

The company, which was formed in 1968, presently operates a 70,000 ton aluminum reduction plant and a cable plant at its facility. The existing plant was completed in 1971 and has operated at capacity since that time.

He added that the additional capacity is required because of increased demand for the company's products, particularly wire and cable for the electric utility industry and extrusion billet used by independent fabricators and Norandex Inc. and an affiliated company which is a leading supplier of aluminum residential building products.

Upon completion of the expansion, it is expected that an additional 250 employes will be required which will increase the company's annual payroll from about $6 million a year to over $9 million a year.

Clean water list juggled

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Up to $60 million in federal funds for sewage treatment projects could go to 60 counties, cities, water and sewer districts under a second revision of a priority list under study by the Missouri Clean Water Commission.

The commission scheduled a fourth and final meeting on the matter June 24 after hearing testimony on the list Wednesday.

Testimony in the May 22 hearing, reduction of a reserve for inflation, and reduction of several requests resulted in juggling of the priority list which formerly included only 24 projects.

Jack K. Smith, commission executive secretary, said that because of the impoundment of federal funds, "it is now impossible" for several large secondary treatment projects placed at the top of the previous list to be completed by July 1, 1977, the federal deadline for secondary treatment.

The commission has $64.7 million in federal grants available to allocate for the 1974-75 fiscal year.

By withholding about $16 million for cost increases, 46 projects could be funded, with the community of Bourbon being the cutoff point. By withholding $5 million for cost increases, the minimum recommended by the commission staff, 60 projects, with Independence being the cutoff point, could be funded from a total of $59.5 million.

The Metropolitan Sewer District of St. Louis reduced its request by $3.3 million, St. Peters cut its request by $103,000, and Washington reduced its request by $400,000. Those reductions will allow Independence to fund two-thirds of its $6.6 million project —if the commission votes to hold $5 million instead of $16 million in reserve.

Most of the grant requests are for construction, although some are for planning money.

Representatives of the Missouri Cities Water Co. and the St. Charles County Utilities Co., again contested the $863,000 request of St. Peters, contending the project is not needed because it would duplicate services provided by their companies.

St. Peters officials said the city of 3,500 is expected to grow to 14,000 in three years and they can't waint until the houses are constructed before putting in sewage facilities.

The commission staff was instructed to investigate the dispute.

A representative from Bucklin contended he wasn't notified when the commission changed its point system on rating priorities and did not have a change to change his application or testify before the commission at the May 22 meeting.

SeMo towns among clean water priorities

The Missouri Clean Water Commission has drawn up a list of priorities for applicants for federal funds in 1974-75. Included in that list and the amount of federal grant requests are:

Essex, $88,290; Hayti Heights, $4,303; Hayti, $37,760; Bernie, $171,000; and Fisk, $10,000.

New kindergarten considered

The Sikeston Board of Education is studying the feasiblity of building a new kindergarten building to replace the old wooden structure now in use on the airport grounds, according to Superintendent of Schools, Sam Harbin.

If the board approves the building, it could be ready for use in two years, Harbin said.

Harbin said the board has set the kindergarten as the top priority in future building projects.

The board is currently studying the district's bonding capacity and debt service revenue to determine if it has the funds to pay for the building under the present tax structure.

Another committee is looking for a suitable location.

The current kindergarten facility was built in 1942 as an Army Air Force training barricks and has been remodled to house the school.

A committee of 20 parents and teachers examined the building in May and found several problems, including deterioration of the building, making it impossible to keep it in good repair; inadequate heat control in severe winter weather and no cooling on hot autumn and spring days; lack of carpeting and storage for instructional materials in classrooms; lack of storage for student equipment; lack of individual class bathrooms, water and sink facilities, equipment for cooking and refrigeration of food items and lack of recommended furniture for kindergarten classrooms.

No multi- purpose activity or assembly room, no office - work areas for teacher specialits, no lounge-work area and private bathroom for staff The campus is noisey with trains, planes, and large trucks causing classroom interruptions.

The playground is too small and does not have appropriate equipment located in protected areas; there is inadquate parking area for staff and visitors and unsafe access and departure routes for buses and cars.

The committee said "improvements for most of the above weaknesses and inadequacies could not be made at the existing kindergarten site due to prohibitive costs, limited land space and conjestion and noise over which the school has no control.

The present building does have three strong points, the committee said It is centrally located, it has large classrooms, and the central unit approach fosters cooperative teaching, standardization of curriculum, sharing of instruction materials and other economies.

The committee recommended the kindergarten building be given top priority by the board of education.

Harbin said the new building would probably have 10 classrooms.

There will be an estimated 350 children in kindergarten next year, Harbin said.

Burglary suspect arrested

Police arrested Wayne Harris, 17, of Route three, Wednesday night for burglary after he was allegedly caught during a break- in at Lambert's Cafe, Highway 61 South.

Police said he had broken into a safe at Hambrick Electric Co., 505 Greer St., just prior to the break- in at Lamberts.

Police were called at 11:30 p.m. by Nick Zaharopoulos, owner of the Grecian Steakhouse, 531 Greer St. after he allegedly saw Harris go through a fan opening in the south side off the cafe.

When police arrived they allegedly saw Harris inside the building. He tried to escape out a door, but was stopped.

Police say Harris has admitted breaking open the safe at Hambrick with a hammer and chisel. He took about $200 from the safe and a soft drink machine. He entered the building through a window about 10:30 p.m., police said.

After leaving Hambrick, Harris walked east through the alley to Lambert's.

The officers who caught Harris were Brad Wilson, John Evans, Charles Sherrard and Lawarance Woodward.

Other arrests announced today include William Joseph Urhahn of Benton, speeding; Doris Nell Lowe, 512 N. Kingshighway, speeding; Delena Barker, 230 E. Kathleen Ave., peace disturbance; Roger Lee Barker, 230 E. Kathleen Ave., peace disturbance; and Ezell Appelwhite, 318 Luther St., assault and battery.

2 draw year in county jail

BENTON — After pleading guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated, Solman Ferguson and Sherman Isbell of Sikeston were sentenced to one year in the county jail by Judge Lloyd Briggs Wednesday in Magistrate Court.

Trial was set July 10 for Robert William Witt of Scott City who is charged with possession of intoxicating liquor and careless and imprudent driving. Another charge against Witt of having possession of a roach clip (a device used for smoking marijuana) was continued until July 10.

Donald Gene Wiley of Scott City, who is charged with underage possession of intoxicating liquor, was granted one week to obtain an attorney.

A possession of marijuana case against Donald Gene Wiley of Scott City was continued until June 19 to give him time to obtain an attorney.

Preliminary hearing was set June 25 for Betty Jean Huffman, also known as Betty J. Oliver of Wauchula, Fla., after she pleaded not guilty to a defraud charge.

Dewayne Tripp of Sikeston was fined $150 and given a one- year suspended jail sentence and placed on supervised probation for two years after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Imposition of sentence was deferred until June 11, 1975 for Larry Perrin of Springfield who is charged with driving while intoxicated. Perrin was placed on supervised probation.

Bond was forfeited and a warrant was issued for Ernest Eugene Weems of Sikeston after he failed to appear in court on a charge of making a false report to a police officer.

A felonious charge of concealing a dangerous weapon against Joseph Anderson of Sikeston was continued until June 19.

After pleading guilty to a charge of driving while license was suspended, Phillip Lee Johnson of Sikeston was sentenced to one year in the county jail.

A change of venue to Mississippi County was granted to Hershel Eugene Smith of Dexter who is charged with driving an overweight truck.

A case against Phillip Luttrell of Cape Girardeau was continued until June 26 to give him time to obtain an attorney. Luttrell is charged with stealing a 1972 automobile from Andrew Shaefer.

Warrants were issued for the arrest of Daniel J. Shaffer of Sikeston and Marvin L. Walls of Bertrand who failed to appear in court on charges of hunting wildlife without a license.

Violators fined for speeding included:

Leon Orlo Garnett of Sikeston, $27.50; Stanley Ray Hollifield of Sikeston, $13; Michael Houston Jones of Sikeston, $15; Bobby Joe Montgomery of Oran, $45; David Richard Brown of Milwaukee, Wis., $25; Leonard Vernell McGee, $35; Earl Devorse, Jr., of St. Louis, $17; Ethel Mae Flippin, $15;

Burlison announces his candicacy for re-election

WASHINGTON, D. C. — In announcing his candidacy for re- election Missouri 10th District, U. S. Rep. Bill D. Burlison of Cape Girardeau, Mo. said, "I believe my constituents approve of the moderate representation they have received during my terms of office. My people do not want an advocate of the radicals on the one hand or the reactionaries on the other."

Burlison also said he felt his constituents were aware of his being constantly on the job as evidenced by the fact that he again leads the Missouri delegation in voting attendance.

The third term Democrat said he welcomed the challenge of representing one of the nation's most diverse congressional districts, bounded by the Mississippi Delta on the south, urban industry on the north, and the Ozarks and lead mining industry on the west. The district also contains more Mississippi River shoreline than any other.

"I am proud of the fact that while giving vigorous representation to my farm interests while serving on the

Bill Burlison

Subcommittee on Agriculture, I at the same time am given a perfect voting record by the Consumer Federation of America. That selection is shared with Congresswoman Leonor K. Sullivan of St. Louis, who is prominent as an advocate of consumer legislation," he continued.

Burlison noted that in spite of the fact that he was a relatively new member of Congress he was able to start up the ladder on probably the most important committee in the House, the Committee on Appropriations. This position aided his district during this term, he said, in receiving funds for agriculture, drainage and flood control, housing, water and sewer, and other essential programs.

"As all observant and thoughtful citizens know, a congressman's effectiveness is measured in considerable part by the number of terms he is able to serve. I hope the 10th District is content with my stewardship of their interests, and thus wish me to continue," he added.

Burlison also noted that House Speaker Carl Albert of McAlester, Okla. recently had designated him to be the presiding officer on the house floor for the four hours of debate and votes on the Atomic Energy Commission bill authorizing amost $4 billion for fiscal year 1975 to carry out its military and civil energy projects.

FLAG DAY — 1974

On June 14, Americans will pause to honor their flag.

Much has changed in America and her people since 1777, when Philadelphia seamstress Betsy Ross produced the first national banner with its 13 stars and alternating red and white stripes.

Yet "Old Glory" continues to hold deep meaning for all patriotic Americans.

It was President Woodrow Wilson who first proclaimed that Flag Day would be observed each year on June 14. That was in 1916, and he emphasized:

"We celebrate the day of the flag's birth, and from its birth until now it has witnessed great history; has floated on high - the symbol of great events, of a great plan of life, worked out by a great people."

This June 14, as we repeat the Pledge of Allegiance at meetings and sports events; as we salute our flag when it passes on parade; as we see it waving over our nation's homes and schools and places of business; let us remember the proud heritage for which it stands: "One Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Polls in general would seem to indicate four or five per cent of the people are cautious enough to keep their mouth shut, with no opinion.

FLAG DAY

When they look at the Flag of the United States, high atop a flagpole, many people can see nothing but a piece of cloth silhouetted against the sky, and this is unfortunate. If they would look only a little more carefully, adding an element of reflection, they would see the banner's brightness as a symbol of the freedom and liberty cherished and protected at great sacrifice since the birth of our nation.

By Presidential proclamation, Friday, June 14 is Flag Day across the nation. Displaying the Flag on this special occasion is a way in which we can express patriotism -- the spirit of love and devotion to a national heritage of "... one Nation, under God, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all." But we should remember that patriotism is shown not only by heroism on the battlefield, but by the practice of good citizenship in peacetime as well. This Flag Day each citizen should display the flag as a simple gesture of faith in the ideals of personal liberty for which our country stands.

DANGEROUS MYTHS

Features and Facts for Women, a publication of the American Petroleum Institute, presents some old facts in new garb entitled "Old Wives' Tales and Other Myths." Among the old wives' tales it mentioned legendary folk remedies such as placing a sharp ax beneath the bed to cut the pain of childbirth. No less silly, the piece goes on to observe some of the myths that have become attached to the energy industry, especially petroleum.

For instance, the myth persists that anyone with an oil well in his backyard probably has a fleet of Cadillacs at his front door. As a matter of fact, the average oil well in the United States produces only 17.2 barrels a day. At an average price of $3.40 per barrel the operator of such a well would realize a gross income of about $51 a day after paying the royalty owner one eighth of the value of production. Also, the myth is still prevalent that the oil industry enjoys special benefits from that magical tax loophole known as the "oil depletion allowance." But, such tax provisions, characterized as "loopholes", were carefully written into law to accomplish certain objectives. They allow for various deductions available to taxpayers of all income levels, and include those permitted for charitable contributions, medical expenses, home mortgage interest expenses and the like.

The mineral depletion provision is available to over 100 minerals. It takes into consideration the high risk to the investor who must find new deposits of these minerals and provides an incentive for capital investment. Most old wives' tales are harmless. Those pertaining to the oil industry present a clear and present danger to future energy supplies.

"LET'S HEAR IT"

(In these days of unrelieved foreboding and gloomy news, all of us in this country could do with a little bucking up.

It isn't often that we get a chance to see ourselves as a neighbor sees us— and be cheered by the image.

Some time ago Gordon Sinclair, the Canadian radio and TV commentator, broadcast an editorial from Toronto. Any number of people in this country heard it or have since read it, as it has been widely reprinted in newspapers in the U. S. It was inserted in the "Congressional Record" and became the subject of many editorials.

Mr. Sinclair's commentary makes especially heartening reading right now. For the benefit of those who have missed it, excerpts are presented here.— Howard Flieger, Editor— U. S. News and World Report).

This Canadian thinks it is time to speak up for the Americans as the most generous and possibly the least appreciated people on all the earth...

Germany, Japan and, to a lesser extent, Britain and Italy were lifted out of the debris of war by the Americans who poured in billions of dollars and forgave other billions in debts. None of these countries is today paying even the interest on its remaining debts to the United States.

When the franc was in danger of collapsing in 1956, it was the Americans who propped it up, and their reward was to be insulted and swindled on the streets of Paris.

I was there. I saw it.

When distant cities are hit by earthquakes, it is the United States that hurries in to help....This spring, 59 American communities (were) flattened by Tornadoes. Nobody helped.

The Marshall Plan and the Truman Policy pumped billions upon billions of dollars into discouraged countries. Now newspapers in those countries are writing about the decadent, warmongering Americans.

I'd like to see just one of those countries that is gloating over the erosion of the United States dollar build its own airplanes.

Come on, let's hear it!

Does any other country in the world have a plane to equal the Boeing Jumbo Jet, the Lockheed Tristar or the Douglas 10?

If so, why don't they fly them? Why do all the international lines except Russia fly American planes?

Why does no other land on earth even consider putting a man or woman on the moon?

You talk about Japanese technocracy, and you get radios. You talk about German technocracy, and you get automobiles.

You talk about American technocracy, and you find men on the moon— not once but several times— and safely home again.

You talk about scandals and the American put theirs right in the store window for everybody to look

Even their draft- dodgers are not pursued and hounded. They are here on our streets, and most of them— unless they are breaking Canadian laws— are getting American dollars from Ma and Pa at home to spend here...

When the railways of France, Germany and India were breaking down through age, it was the American who rebuilt them. When the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central went broke, nobody loaned them an old caboose. Both are still broke.

I can name you 5,000 times when the Americans raced to the help of other people in trouble. Can you name me even one time when someone else raced to the Americans in trouble?

I don't think there was outside help even during the San Francisco earthquake.

Our neighbors have faced it alone, and I'm one Canadian who is damned tired of hearing them kicked around.

They will come out of this thing with their flag high. And when they do, they are entitled to thumb their nose at the lands that are gloating over their present troubles.

I hope Canada is not one of these.

WHEN STREET WISDOM, JOB SKILLS DON'T MIX

For all their efforts, job-training programs have been unable to move significant numbers of able- bodied but "motivationally unemployed" people— often inner- city black youths— into the economic mainstream.

One social scientist disturbed by this failure is Nathan Caplan of the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research. After a decade of work with various job- training projects, Caplan, along with other professionals in the field, was bewildered and frustrated by the apparent ineffectiveness of the programs.

In search of a plausible explanation, he examined data from two social intervention projects: One a five- year program of street club work and community organization in Chicago and the other a one-year job development program aimed at hard- to- employ youths.

He discovered that time after time, failure was most frequent among those youths who appeared to hold the greatest chance for success. Because of their promising leadership abilities, these youths received the most intensive help from counselors. Many of them progressed rapidly through all stages of the training program, only to balk on the very threshhold of success. When the time came to get and hold a job, they would suddenly, inexplicably fail.

Caplan now believes that the high incidence of failure among many of these inner-city youths is not because they were unmotivated or unskilled but rather because they were highly motivated and highly skilled.

Like most persons, they are motivated to do the things they can do best, and the skills they have mastered are those which insure their social sufficiency and survival within the ghetto community.

But paradoxically, the skills which may make a man an "executive" in the street— hustling, rapping, fighting, athletics and so forth— may also make him a failure as a dishwasher, mechanic or maintenance man.

Being tough and cool, for example, are often important personal traits among inner-city youths, but may be unacceptable sings of hostility and unco- operativeness in the normal working environment.

In order to succeed at a straight job, Caplan feels, the inner- city youth must sacrifice too much of his personal worth and dignity. Entering a job program means to many young men that they must pay a painful psychological price— the abandonment of a healthy, positive self- image gained through their competence at street skills.

Caplan's findings and his theory of "competing competencies" indicate that for job- training programs to have maximum impact, they will have to recognize that knowledge of a person's existing skills may be more important to predicting future behavior than any other information about him.

While such programs might expect to provide a chance for self- development and economic livelihood to youths with a limited number of previous street skills, they face a different challenge in motiviating many of the more talented, intelligent youths with an abundance of such skills.

Beyond this, the findings lend further support to the belief that human beings are molded and motivated by the competencies they acquire as part of the socialization experience during late childhood and adolescence.

As Caplan says, "To a large extent, we are what we can do, particularly, what we can do well."

Calvert Distillers used a very simple mailing to reactivate old accounts. Each salesman was asked to jot down the names of 100 dealers who had not placed an order during the past year. The company sent a personalized letter to the dealer stating that a salesman would soon be appearing on the scene with a gift.

Mailings were staggered so that salesmen could keep up with the appointments. Results were exceptionally good. In Los Angeles alone, Calvert salesmen made 856 calls on inactive accounts and sold 521 of them for a 609 batting average.

A Dutchman was explaining the red- white- and- blue Netherlands flag to an American. "Our flag has a connection with our taxes," he said. "We get red in the face when we talk about them, white when we get our tax bills, and terribly blue when we pay them."

"That's just how it is in the U. S. A.," said the American, "only we see stars, too."

ROCKY ACRES UP FOR SHALE

One of the resources mentioned by President Nixon in his call for a crash program to achieve energy independence by 1980 was the vast oil shale deposits in the western part of the United States.

Estimates of how much oil is locked in the rocks of Colorado, Utah and Wyoming range from three to eight trillion barrels. The Department of the Interior estimates that there are 1.8 trillion barrels of oil in rock that yields at least 15 barrels a ton when the hydrocarbons it contains are heated and converted into crude oil. Another 600 billion barrels may be in richer veins that yield at least 25 barrels a ton.

Unlike coal, oil shale yields a "clean" product which would aid in the fight against air pollution. Because of price increases imposed by the oil-producing countries of the Middle East, oil shale products are now becoming competitive with conventional oil products.

Several extraction techniques have been tested, but only one has been announced ready for commercial application— the TOSCO II process developed by The Oil Shale Corporation.

Up to now, the federal government, which owns 80 per cent of the oil shale deposits, has pursued a go-slow policy. But it is now preparing to offer leases on six tracts in the three- state area for oil shale development.

The Department of the Interior which will administer the program, has established strict procedures to insure protection of the environment.

According to Interior, production of one million barrels a day of shale oil should be attainable by the mid-1980s, with a potential output of several million barrels a day.

Cynthia came back from a cruise and confided to her girl friend that she had met a man on board ship and had become engaged to him. She showed her friend a picture of her husband- to- be.

"You can't marry that man," the girl friend squealed. "He's too old for you."

"That doesn't matter," replied Cynthia firmly. "Jonathan is a fine man. I'm sure we'll get along very nicely."

"But," shrieked her friend, "from his picture I'd guess he's at least twenty years older than you are. Your interests won't be the same."

"You don't understand," retorted Cynthia.

"Nothing's important except that I love Jonathan for what he is."

"And exactly what is he?"

"President of a big bank."

THE RICH AND THE POOR

It has frequently been said that the rich and powerful endeavor to keep the poor in misery and suppression. Long ago intelligent people ceased to believe that the rich desire to exploit the poor — it would be detrimental to their own interests. The observation is that the rich are in agreement on one point only: they do not wish to be poor. Who does?

The rich have established foundations for research into economics, medicine, science, education, and every other branch of knowledge. They have built hospitals and universities, hoping that through their philanthropy all might be helped to become wise, healthy, and well- to - do.

Every scrap of knowledge, painfully assembled through the centuries, is available to the poor as well as the rich in public and university libraries, founded, for the most part, by rich men. The professors and intellectuals, who are supposed to be the poor man's advocate in his struggles, are unable to agree among themselves as to why some are rich and others poor.

There is no real fight between the rich and the poor. The rich are doing more for the poor, year in and year out, than the poor are doing for themselves. A wise economist has said, "You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich."

WHAT DID HENRY GIVE?

WASHINGTON — No one is quite certain what kind of deals Henry Kissinger made to get a settlement in the Middle East, but President Nixon probably is finding out this week.

I can imagine a scene at a great reception given by President Sadat of Egypt where leaders from all the Arab lands have gathered to meet the President of the United States. Henry is standing next to President Nixon in the receiving line and introducing the Arabs to the President.

"Mr. President," Henry says, "this is Sheik Kaleli Abrim."

Sheik Abrim shakes hands with Mr. Nixon. "My father sends his respects and asks me to thank you on behalf of our family for giving us the state of Rhode Island."

President Nixon appears startled and whispers to Henry, "Did we give Rhode Island to the Abrim family?"

Henry whispers back, "They wanted California, but I talked them into taking Rhode Island instead."

"What did we get in exchange;" the President asks.

"A steady, two- year supply of oil at $14 a barrel."

"Hmmm," the President says, "I guess nobody will mind losing Rhode Island."

The sheik moves on and Henry introduces the next Arab leader.

"This, Mr. President, is Hakim Assou, the Egyptian minister of public works."

Mr. Assou bows. "It is a great honor I finally meet the noble benefactor of Egypt."

"What did we give (ital) them (unital)?" the President whispers to Henry.

Henry replies, "The Ford Motor Co."

"In Egypt?" the President asks.

Henry blushes. "The Ford Motor Co. in the United States. You see, in order to get a settlement in Syria we needed help from the Egyptians. The only way we could get help from them was to give them something in exchange. I thought the Ford Motor Co. would be a nice quid pro quo."

"Has anyone told Henry Ford?"

"Not yet. I didn't want it to leak to the press."

Mr. Assou moves on and Henry introduces Fata Fatima the leader of a splinter Maoist Palestinian guerrilla band.

Fatima refuses to shake hands with the President. He tells Henry, "I have been talking with my brothers and we have decided you tricked us when you offered us three squadrons of Phantom jets. We will not go to Geneva unless we receive three nuclear submarines."

"What the devil?" the President says to Henry.

Henry whispers, "Don't pay any attention to him He's all talk. They'll take the three squadrons of Phantom jets."

"Are you sure we want to give these people Phantom jets?"

"I had to give them (ital) something (unital)." Henry says defensively.

The next Arab leader is Aleki Mossad, the Syrian minister of tourism.

"Oh, Great One," Mossad says, "you have saved the Syrian tourist industry."

The President looks questioningly at Henry.

Henry says, "I forgot to tell you last week, in order to get the Syrians off the Golan Heights I promised them Las Vegas. We have to sign the deed after lunch."

Before the President can meet the next Arab leader, President Sadat tells Mr. Nixon he has an urgent call from Golda Meir.

After five minutes a rather upset President returns to the receiving line.. He whispers to Henry, "Did you give Israel the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey?"

"Come to think of it," Henry says, "I did. Originally they demanded Alaska, but I told them it was out of the question."

CRIMINAL CONSPIRACY

The hard core of the Symbionese Liberation Army, a group of politically orientated radicals who deal in crime, was destroyed in a shoot-out at a house in Los Angeles recently, but the shock of the activities of these people lives on. Various members of the "Army" have been involved in kidnapping, bank robbery, theft and extortion, the authorities say.

The "Army" is not the only group posing serious threat to our society. Criminal mobsters operating in most of the large cities of the nation commit serious crimes daily and extort millions through the rackets. The crime problem does not stop there, however. Individuals acting alone continue to prey on citizens and their property. Street crimes are at a serious stage as officers of the law stretch their thin ranks to cope with one of the most trying problems confronting the U.S.

The brazen actions of the SLA dramatize the pressing necessity of checking crime now and eradicating it in the future. Generally, there are adequate laws to deal with criminals but the crux of the matter lies in their enforcement. That is where citizens enter the picture. Our jury service and cooperation with the law enforcement agencies are necessary to ensure a victory over the criminal element. This column still advocates wide participation in a program called Law-Aid, whose function is recognition of the problems of local police and the good work done by most law enforcement agancies. Any program supporting sound law enforcement is a contribution to freedom. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Dead Man's Tales: White House Woos Big Labor Again

WASHINGTON -- It's a pity dead men tell no tales. If one of them, the late George T. Bell--a former special assistant to the President--could, it would soon become obvious that there was as much stupidity as cupidity in Charles Colson's executive suite. It was the then 56-year-old, genial sailing enthusiast, Bell, who invented the "opponents list."

When taken aboard the White House in 1969 he was a whilom space engineer type who had sold his interest in a firm called "Geo-nautics." This made him a poor millionaire with time on his hands. Soon Bell, despite his official title, actually was special assistant to Dick Nixon's special counsel, Colson.

And of all specialties to give this gracious, good- humored George Bell, they gave him the "labor account."

Those were the days when Bob Haldeman, in addition to collecting homemade movies of the President, was specializing in collecting the most amazing band of political amateurs under one roof in the history of contemporary civilization.

Thus the late George Bell, who didn't know a union dues stamp from an Outer Mongolian visa, was in effect appointed special liaison official with the tough sophisticated labor movement.

What eventually happened was disastrous for the White House -- and its background looms large now that the President once more is quietly seeking reestablishment of diplomatic relations with the movement.

Replacing Chuck Colson now is William Baroody, Jr., once a special aide and confidant of Mel Laird when the latter was Secretary of Defense. And assisting Bill Baroody, replacing, if that's the word, George Bell, is Dr. Theodore Marrs. The latter has just been appointed and is winding up his affairs at the Pentagon where he has been Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense in the manpower section.

Baroody knows the labor movement. His former chief Mel Laird, when counsellor to the President for domestic affairs and especially during the weeks he (Laird) was "breaking in Jerry Ford," would drop over to AFL- CIO headquarters and "rap" with labor chief George Meany. During this period, Baroody again was Laird's aide.

It is significant that in all this Watergate vortex, Baroody and Marrs will attempt a reasoned and pragmatic effort to open the White House itself again to labor leaders -- those who want to come.

They won't make Bell's errors. Bell was "memo mad." He'd put everything down. It was part of his executive industrial training. One day he decided to list some men who were friendly. And some who weren't. That was in 1971.

One of his earliest lists sounded like he was reporting to John Dean what might be the equivalent of a Revolutionary War memo to George Washington pointing that his opponents were King George III and Gen. Burgoyne. There were moments when Bell became rattled.

Few were aware that he was the operator of something called "evening at the Blair House." Some 20 labor leaders and businessmen would be invited to the Blair House for royal treatment. They would sit around at cocktail hour with Henry Kissinger, for example, and then go into dinner for good fellowship and briefing.

Bell once invited (Feb. 24, 1972) the meat cutters union president Joseph Belsky and Kenneth Brown, president of the Lithographers and Photoengravers International Union to sit with the mighty. No one knew why they were chosen. Especially the two men. You couldn't swing them to Dick Nixon with a 50- ton derrick. Poor Bell began to make longer memos on friend and foe. Four months later Belsky and Brown were on an opponents list

Such lists tickled Chuck Colson, Bell's boss. He had assigned a bright researcher Joanne Gordon (now in the Labor Dept.) to Bell. She pumped out some of these lists to the strangest assortment of White House officials -- but most always to John Dean.

So the lists escalated all over the place. Also memos containing all sorts of information on the labor movement and its leaders. Word got back soon enough to Meany and the others. But still at least two AFL-CIO vice presidents (at that time) talked regularly with Bell and Colson.

To insiders this got to be known as the "White House Outreach" program. About April 1972, Bell became ill. He went home and stayed there though his name was still on the White House board and his secretary still answered "Mr. Bell's Office."

On March 13, 1973, he died. And since he had sat for several years cheek- by- jowl with Chuck Colson, lots of secrets died with him, though he has barely been mentioned in the hundreds of millions of Watergate words. Basically the Colson- Bell objective was to "get Meany." They failed. Meany doesn't "get" easily.

Liaison with labor was maintained by Treasury Secretary Shultz, his now Harvard- bound protege Dean John Dunlop, and finally Mel Laird They're all gone now.

So the assignment has gone to Bill Baroody and the still unknown Dr. Marrs. They'll have to do it the hard way. Without lists. And without walking over any grandmothers.

Dexter chamber told of betterment work

DEXTER — Bob Robbins of the Community Betterment Committee reported to the Chamber of Commerce at a noon luncheon held Wednesday at the Hickory Log Restaurant of work being done to make Dexter a five- star city.

Dexter now has three stars and the Community Betterment Committee is making plans to complete projects under community service and transportation to complete the program.

Community service projects under way include a community health unit and leisure time activities. Additional curbing will be needed within the transportation project.

Bob Diel reported to the Chamber on an industrial survey being conducted in the Dexter area.

Yewell Lawrence reported on progress made on Dexter's Hidden Trails Recreational Center.

Shed burns in New Madrid

NEW MADRID — Firemen were called at 7:40 p.m. Wednesday to extinguish a fire at 4:11 Riley St. where a frame storage shed was burning at the rear of the Dan Downard home.

The shed, believed to have been ignited by sparks from burning trash, was nearly destroyed.

William Ladd was an American advocate of international peace who founded the American Peace Society in 1828. In 1840, Ladd wrote "Essay on a Congress of Nations," which proposed a world organization to formulate principles of international law and a court of arbitration to settle disputes by judicial decision, The World Almanac notes.

Ann Landers

Readers uphold, criticize columns on sex and VD

Dear Ann Landers: I am wondering just how far the publishers will let you go before they decide to throw your column out of the newspapers. I'm sick and tired of trying to beat my teen-agers to the front porch to see if your column is fit for them to read.

I refer specifically to some of the trash you have printed on two subjects: homosexuality and venereal disesase.

First, let me tell you we get the morning paper. When you described the symptoms of VD, it ruined my breakfast. I don't consider such material appropriate fare for the breakfast table.

Furthermore, you put ideas into the heads of these kids. Some of the things you print would not have entered their minds for several years if you hadn't brought them up. My 11- year- old asked me yesterday, "What is a homosexual?" How on earth can you explain THAT to a mere child?

You have made life difficult for me and I resent it. Sex education belongs in the home and not in the newpaper. I believe in giving children information when they are ready for it, not before. -- No Fan of Yours

Dear No Fan: Children of all ages deserve honest answers to any and all questions. An 11- year- old who asks: "What is a homosexual?" should be told it is a person who prefers a member of his (or her) own sex to those of the opposite sex. No more details are necessary.

Are you aware that in spite of the fact that we now have a cure for VD, there are millions of untreated people in this country who are infecting others every day? Eleven is not too young for children to know about these crippling diseases. From the sound of your letter, your kids need to read my column because I don't think you are emotionally mature or well enough informed to give them straight answers.

The next letter might be of interest to you:

Dear Ann Landers: I believe the most valuable service you have performed in all the years you've been writing is the information you have given our youth on the symptoms and hazards of VD.

I am the principal of a school in North Carolina. Your column has appeared in our paper for 17 years, and your column was the first in which they ever printed anything about VD.

I remember the stir it caused at a PTA meeting back in 1956. People actually chose up sides. The enlightened parents in our school applauded you. They said they discussed your column with their children and it helped put things in the proper perspective. The unenlightened parents thought it was outrageous that such topics as sex and VD should appear in a family newspaper.

A committee went to see the editor. You won hands down. I say God Bless you, and the editor. You've been an enormous influence for good in our community. You have given our children information that has molded their lives -- a job many mothers and fathers should have done, but weren't equipped to do.

The kids appreciate you, even if some of their parents don't. So do the teachers, guidance counselors and principals. God bless you, Ann. Long may you reign. -- A Real Friend

Dear Friend: Thank you.

Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism -- Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cent in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Boardmans mark 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Boardman, 714 Sikes Ave., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary June 2 with a buffet luncheon given in their honor by Mr. and Mrs. Paul David Boardman, a son and daughter-in-law.

Members of the immediate family were present.

The Boardmans were married June 1, 1924 by the late Rev. Thomas L. Boardman.

Attending the luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Boardman, Christy Baker, Judson Boardman Jr. and Davy Boardman of Sikeston; Mr. and Mrs. John L. E. Boardman and Debbie and Chris of Arcadia; Mrs. Ernestine Venable and Miss Carolyn Venable of Murray, Ky.; and Mark Boardman, Miss Donna Beaty and Craig Boardman of Cape Girardeau.

Meetings

THURSDAY

American Legion Auxiliary will meet at 7 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Glenn McClellan, 526 Carroll.

B&PW club plans cancer fund drive

NEW MADRID — A citywide cancer fund drive to begin Monday and continue through June 21 was planned last Monday by the Business and Professional Women's Club, sponsors of the annual American Cancer Society crusade in the city.

Club members are recruting additional volunteers to conduct the drive in all areas of the city. More than 20 residential teams will be delivering educational material and seeking donations.

Mrs. Thelma King and Mrs. Dot Halstead were named to be in charge of business contributions. Funds are to be turned in by all workers to Mrs. Velma French on Friday afternoon.

A report was heard from Mrs. Algie Phillips who represented the club April 19 at the state convention in Kansas City.

A softball program for girls, which is being organized by Gary Vaughn, was discussed. Members agreed that funds for necessary equipment should be obtained from the youth fund provided by the United Community Fund which finances the Little League program for boys.

A social night at the Hickory Log Restaurant in Dexter was scheduled for July 15. Members who wish to attend are to contact Bonnie Warren, Betty Taylor or Mary Lois Davis by July 7 so reservations can be made. The group will assemble and leave from the courthouse parking lot at 6 p.m.

NOTICE
Wedding information must be submitted to The Daily Standard within three weeks after the ceremony. Weddings one month old or older will NOT be run.

Meetings

SUNDAY

Big Ridge General Baptist Church, located southwest of Matthews, will host a Father's Day singing basket dinner and homecoming beginning at 11 a.m. at the church. The Clark Jubilee Singers from Clinton, Ky., will sing.

THURSDAY

Newcomer family potluck dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. in Clayton Park, located off West Murray Lane. All newcomers to the area are invited to come and bring a basket dinner for their family.

Allens host dinner

RISCO — Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Allen and Dickie were hosts Sunday for a family dinner at their home.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gregg and family and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Gregg of Bernie; Mrs. Myrtle Pitts and Miss Louise Weeks of Campbell; Miss Brenda Weeks of Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Burlison and Mrs. Gary Devos and daughters of Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Berry and Gary of Poplar Bluff; and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pearson and Mrs. A. J. Allen of Risco.

We are looking for exciting new or old favorite recipes from local cooks to include in The Daily Standard's special cook book section to be published early this summer. Help make this year's edition the best ever by sending recipes for any type dish to Pat Grojean, The Daily Standard, Box 100, Sikeston, Mo. 63801.

Book review

THE HUNGARIAN GAME
by Roy Hayes
(Avon 18986/$1.75
303pp.)

Classic Chess Gambit Underlies Bestselling Spy Novel-

"A weak defense," comments Remly on the "Hungarian Game" gambit, a standard chess maneuver; "not if you know how to utilize your pawns," counters his opponent, and thus sets the stage for an evenly matched game of move- countermove in Roy Hayes bestselling espionage novel THE HUNGARIAN GAME, now in Avon paperback.

The key piece in the game is Hagopian, a virtuoso assassin and borderline psychotic; the pawn exploited to anticipate and block his moves is Remly, a harassed wry US Intelligence agent more used to the petty bureaucracy -- reports in quadruplicate and padding the expense account -- of his normally dull job than to international espionage. Remly gamely stays one move behind Hagopian, unravelling a string of murders and landing in a Hungarian political prison, before he brilliantly outmaneuvers Hagopian and brings the game to checkmate.

THE HUNGARIAN GAME spent five weeks on bestseller lists following hardcover publication by Simon and Schuster last year; in addition to the Avon paperback edition, it has been sold both to foreign publishers and for a motion picture scheduled to go into production this year. The author is a former advertising executive with a better- than-working understanding of chess, as well as an aficionado's knowledge of electronic devices and obscure weapons, both utilized imaginatively in his book.

Gifts for the bride reflect new lifestyles

NEW YORK (AP) — Today's avant garde bride may wear blue jeans and carry field flowers. Most brides, however, still float down the aisle in yards of silk and lace, since tradition seems to hold sway when a girl marries. Whatever the ceremony, the contemporary bride is a different woman from her mother, with a whole new lifestyle.

Bridal registries and gift-giving services are noting trends that reflect these differences. The '70s wedding gifts, they report, are compact, mobile and easy to care for. Small electrical appliances, audio-visual equipment and linens are high on the list of preferences. Silver seems to be the one link to tradition.

According to a recent Modern Bride Magazine report, 38 per cent of today's brides have completed college. This same survey shows that 66 per cent are employed and their median age is 20.8 years. These statistics profile a better educated, career-oriented, more mature young woman whose lifestyle requires more time away from home.

The gift for the '70s bride must also fit into a shrinking environment. E. B. Weiss, "Advertising Age" social survey expert, reports that 80 per cent of America's young adults will be living in apartments by 1980. With fewer rooms, living space must be flexible, converting from sleeping to eating to entertaining and study with the push of a button.

And not only is the newlywed nest growing smaller, it is also being moved more often. Young marrieds are motivated to move for business, the second home and pleasure. Their second home may even be in a foreign country. Their possessions must be as mobile as they are.

So how to choose a bridal gift for this educated, employed new Mrs. with tuned up tastes and a yen to travel?

Nunnelee, Ryan lash opponents

Nunnelee blasted Fabick, 15-6, and Ryan Construction shelled First National Bank, 13-3 in American League contests Wednesday night.

K. Howard and Jenkins sprayed three hits apiece and Beasly and Carnell contributed two each to lead Nunnelee's 13- hit attack which produced 15 runs. Fabick collected more hits -- 17 in all -- but managed only six runs.

Watkins banged three hits and Wright, Williams, Cecil, McReynolds and Sanders two each to lead the Fabick attack. Also, Watkins, Cecil and Box had doubles and Williams a triple for Fabick, while K. Howard's triple was the only extra- base hit for Nunnelee.

Beasley was the winning pitcher over Williams.

In the other battle, Ryan drilled 16 hits, including three each by Green and Greer and two apiece by Bickford, Rice and Motton. Green, Bickford, Rice, Greer, Motton, DeCota and Litchford all had a double apiece and Long belted a triple as well as pitching a two-hit victory.

The only hits for First National were singles by Jackson and T. Sanders, and the losing moundsman was Smith.

Kiwanis, Pizza Inn win close battles

Kiwanis edged Legion, 7-6, and Pizza Inn slipped by Lions, 5-3, in a pair of close National League matches Wednesday night.

Dock took the mound win for Kiwanis but not without strong opposition from Legion, led by Copeland with three hits and Tope with two hits, including a home run. Campbell cracked a double for Kiwanis, but Self and McDowell led the scoring with two each.

Ferrell was tagged with the mound loss, although allowing only three hits.

Longstreet led the Lions' four- hit attack with a single and double, but Pizza Inn collected its five runs on the same number of hits, which were J. Laseter, Lane, G. Laseter and Lewis. Kyle and King had the other Lion hits.

All breed dog show set Saturday at Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The Southeast Missouri Kennel Club's 31st All Breed Dog Show and Obedience Trials will be held Saturday. Scheduled from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., the show will be in the Arena Building at Arena Park.

One of the few national sporting events to be held in this area, judges and entries will be in attendance from as far west as California and as far east as New York, with all areas in between, both north and south, represented.

The Southeast Missouri Kennle Club is a non-profit organization interested in the promotion of pure-bred dogs. The club is chartered by the American Kennel Club and is composed of members from Poplar Bluff, Sikeston, Charleston, Cape, Jackson and Perryville and Thebes, Ill.

A portion of the proceeds of this show will be donated to the Small Animal Clinic, School of Veterinary Medicine, University of Missorui-Columbia In the past the club has donated of $3,500 to the school.

The American Kennel Club recognizes 120 different breeds of dogs. There are 680 dogs, including 75 in obedience, entered in Saturday's show, with approximately 90 of the AKC-recognized breeds represented.

The dogs will compete for the best of breed and best of show awards.

Admission will be charged to help defray the club's expenses for building and equipment rental.

Judging schedules and catalogs listing every dog entered will be available at the show entrances.

Drive seeks bleacher repairs

The Coalesce Club is organizing a drive to get all Sikeston civic groups to join a project to repair broken and wornout bleacher seats at the city's Little League fields. Clubs are asked to donate time and/or money toward materials and work needed to rebuild the seats at Farris, Puckett and the Musial League field (shown here) near the high school field house. Any group or individual interested in helping with the two-week rebuilding project may phone either of two numbers, 471-5161 or 471-6502.

D&B, Home Materials victors in Junior Babe Ruth action

Davis & Bird tripped Hart's Bread, 7-2, and Home Materials edged the Eagles, 3-1, in Junior Babe Ruth League contests Wednesday night.

Three hits and three runs by Marks and two doubles byLimbaugh sparked Davis & Bird's victory behind five- hit pitching by Keller, who bested Hart's Davidson.

Home Materials received two hits from Lefler and runs by Longstreet, Beaudean and Vogel to support of sharp one-hit pitching by Francis. Manker collected the Eagles' lone hit and Miller scored the only run. Cloud was the victim of the mound defeat.

In Tuesday night games Bank of Sikeston drubbed Nowell Real Estate, 14-4, and Elliott- Newton pounded IBEW, 15-6.

PITCHING—Steve Carlton, Phillies, pitched a five-hitter, striking out eight Houston batters and walking four en route to a 3-0 blanking of the Astros, his third straight victory and seventh in his last eight decisions.

Flower Basket bags 29 hits; Standard nips Collins, 11-10

Twenty-nine hits were walloped by Flower Basket en route to a lopsided 22-5 win over Collins Construction Wednesday night.

The Daily Standard edged Rotary, 11-10, in the other Musial League contest.

Flower Basket's Redd bested Burnett for the mound win, as he, Ferrell, McClain, Malone and Fodge each cracked four hits and McClellan and Howard added three apiece. Burnett had a perfect night with three hits to lead a 14- hit Collins attack.

In the other hitting battle, Rotary attacked with 15 hits, including four by O'Neal and three by Beaudean. The effort was not enough, however, to match the 11 runs collected by the Standard on 13 hit. Steward was the winning pitcher over O'Neal. Moore led the winners with three hits.

In games played Tuesday night, Flower Basket pounded Bank of Sikeston, 15-2, and Malone & Hyde shut out Collins, 6-0.

Birds rip Sutton to sweep series

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What's wrong with Don Sutton?

It's a question the Los Angeles Dodgers—and Sutton—would like to get answered, and soon, too.

The Dodgers' right-hander was knocked out of Wednesday night's 6-3 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals in the fourth inning.

It marked the sixth straight time the $114,000 pitcher has failed to post his seventh victory.

The loss was the third straight for the Dodgers, matching their longest losing streak of the season, and it cut a game off their lead in the National League West. They still lead Cincinnati by seven games.

St. Louis, with its first series sweep in Dodger Stadium in four years, moved into a virtual tie with Philadelphia for first place in the East.

"It's going to be a race over there before it's over with," St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst predicted of the West. "The Dodgers are better but the Reds are still the Reds. They're starting their run a little sooner this year, too. Anyway, we've got our hands full in our own division to be worrying about the Western Division."

Los Angeles Manager Walter Alston, said "At least we started hitting the ball a little better."

The Dodgers, who stranded 25 runners the first game against St. Louis, banged out 10 hits.

Trailing 6-1 after seven innings, the Dodgers got two runs back in the bottom of the eighth on a run-scoring double by Jimmy Wynn which was followed by a single by Steve Garvey.

In the ninth inning they opened up with successive pinch hits, by Manny Mota and Von Joshua. But Bill Russell grounded into a double play and Wynn struck out to end the flurry.

Joe Torre sparked the Cardinals' 11-hit attack with a two-run home run. He drove in three runs for the game.

He drove in a run in the first inning with an infield out and then powered his homer in the third, with Bake McBride aboard. It was Torre's fifth homer of the season and second of the series.

The Dodgers cut the deficit to two runs in the third against winner John Curtis, now 4-6, when Garvey doubled home Wynn who was aboard with a fielder's choice.

But the Cards opened a 5-1 lead in the fourth inning, chasing Sutton out of the game with a double and two more singles. They added a run in the sixth inning. Curtis singled and Brock drove a line drive to center that went for a triple when Wynn stumbled and fell as the ball rolled to the fence.

Summer orientation at SeMo State set for June and July

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The seventh annual summer orientation programm for new students at Southeast Missouri State University will run from June 19- July 26 Dick Haymes, assistant dean of students, announced today.

The program brings both beginning freshmen and transfer students and their parents to the campus for a day- and- a- half. During that period both students and parents become acquainted with some members of the faculty and administrative staff and are introduced to the university's activities, facilities, and policies.

In addition, the new students pre- enroll and leave the campus knowing what their fall class schedule will be.

"In general, we want the students to become familiar with the university so that when they arrive in the fall they are not in an unknown environment," Haymes said.

Each participant in the summer orientation completes an evaluation questionnaire at the end of his brief visit to the campus. Haymes said analyses of these evaluations from past years indicate the program is effective and is accomplishing its goals.

"Three extremely important events take place during the orientation involvement," he said.

"First, the new student and his or her parents get a good look at the university facilities. This, in itself, aids greatly in the student getting a 'feel' for his college experience.

"Second, the students, by meeting with their course advisor and going through the pre- enrollment process, know what classes they will be involved in, and thereby achieve some level of academic awareness.

"Third, they become familiar with the ideas and ideals of other students who have been at the university and who are willing to share a vast amount of information with the new student."

Haymes is responsible for the overall operation of the orientation program. Miss Cherie Schneider, Bob Bridgman, and Dan Gleissner, members of the university's housing staff, handle the day-to- day details.

A number of students are also employed to carry out the program, including five "student leaders." Student leaders for this summer are Miss Vicki Peters of Lutesville; Miss Patricia Walkenbach of St. Louis; Miss Beth Biggs of St. Louis; Miss Sue Joggerst of Ste. Genevieve, and Donnie Carter of Charleston.

Instructor proposes 'cooling off' period

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Sex before marriage and a "cooling off" period before licenses are granted could cut the nation's soaring divorce rate, says a Columbia University Medical School instructor.

Dr. Richard Gardner, an assistant clinical professor at Columbia's school of medicine, made the proposals Monday at a divorce symposium sponsored by the University of Pittsburgh Law School and the South Hills Child Guidance Center.

Gardner admitted some exceptions would be necessary to his proposed three-to-six-month waiting period for marriage licenses, such as if a woman were pregnant.

Gen. Frederic Ellis Davison, commander of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade in Vietnam, was the first Negro general to command American infantrymen in combat.

Health Service Unit sought

DEXTER — Work is under way in Stoddard County to obtain a Health Service Unit, it was noted at a recent meeting of Dexter's Community Betterment Committee.

Mrs. Sherlene Jordan has been named chairman of the Health Services Committee and pointed out that citizens have shown considerable interest in the project. Four civic groups have already committed themselves to work on the projects. Soroptimists Club, Junior Civic Club, B & PW, and American War Mothers have indicated they will assist in the program planning and promotion.

The Community Betterment program from the state level was briefly explained by chairman Bob Robins, who reported that the Chamber of Commerce had taken full responsibility for promoting Community Betterment and that Dexter was considered to be a "Class Five" city with a population from five to ten thousand. He stated that the first step after organization was to establish committees foreach phase of the program, which has been done.

Louis Jones, chairman of the leisure time activities portion of the program, reported that he had been in contact with Robert Stearnes, architect from Sikeston in an effort to secure a building to be used for planned and organized winter activities. Nothing definite was decided upon, but four buildings show possibilities, he nted.

Volleyball, basketball and ping- pong are some of the winter time activities planned. It was decided that Robins and Jones would meet with the Dexter School Board to ask for permission to use one of the high school gyms.

Lynda Dowdy, chairman of the Streets phase of the program, reported her committee was working and they had to secure several city ordinances, a street construction budget maintenance budget, and other figures. Mrs. Dowdy stated that in order to qualify for the star (in the Five Star Program) on transportation 80 percent curbing was necessary throughout the city proper and 90 per cent in the business district. The committee is to meet with an engineer to evaluate further needs for curbs and discuss proper drainage.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, July 2 at 7:30 p.m. at the City Administration Building.

What's the law?

The case of the artful Grandpa

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Joan's husband couldn't make both ends meet because he made one end drink. Consequently, he ultimately just upped and disappeared, leaving Joan and their two children to fend for themselves. With no where else to turn, Joan turned to her aged but artful father.

Already collecting Social Security, he merely adopted his two grandchildren and began receiving additional Social Security payments for their support.

Crafty? The Department of Public Welfare thought it was more like sneaky. Upon discovering "grandpa's" scheme, they started immediate proceedings in court to have the adoptions revoked.

"The two kids were adopted for purely mercenary reasons," the judge was told. "Consequently, the motive for the adoptions was downright dishonest. What's more, they weren't in the best interests of the children."

"If obtaining money to feed my grandchildren wasn't in their best interests," responded the creeky old grandfather, "then I'm Superman. As for my honesty, if money is the root of all evil, it just goes to show how good and honest I am 'cause I've got no money."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you revoke the adoptions?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that the motive for an adoption cannot be based solely upon addiitional funds being made available to support children under their grandfather's Social Security status. Legal custody of children, concluded the judge, cannot be commercialized.

There's a Navy enlistment just right for you.

Your period of active duty can range from 4 months up to 6 years.

Never has the Navy offered so wide a choice of enlistments. You can sign up for as little as 4 months of active duty in the Navy "4x10" reserve program. If you have what it takes, you serve as little as 4 months of active duty, followed by active duty sessions of one evening a week or one weekend a month, and two weeks duty every summer for the balance of your six year obligation. One of the other opportunities is a full six-year enlistment in the regular Navy with highly-specialized training in a wide range of enlistment choices, along with your fair share of hard work and housekeeping chores. Find out more. If you are looking for a challenge—if you want to be Someone Special—stop in and see your local Navy recruiter today.

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, June 13, the 164th day of 1974. There are 201 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1956, Britain turned the Suez Canal over to Egypt after having operated the waterway for 74 years.

On this date—

In 1502, Christopher Columbus discovered the West Indian island of Martinique.

In 1841, the first Canadian Parliament opened in Ottawa.

In 1917, Gen. John Pershing and his headquarters staff arrived in Paris in World War I.

In 1942, the U.S. Office of War Information was created, with broadcaster and writer Elmer Davis as director.

Also in 1942, the British lost 230 tanks in fighting against the Germ... in the North African desert.

In 1967, Thurgood Marshall became the first black to be named to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Ten years ago: Communist China demanded that the 14 nations which had signed the 1962 Geneva accord on Indochina hold emergency discussions to avert the danger of an extension of warfare in Laos.

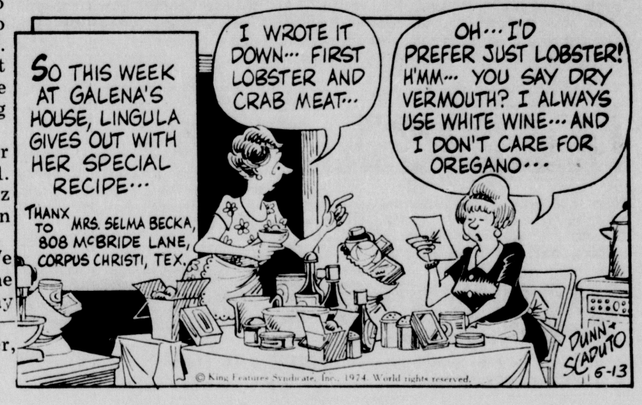
Five years ago: Israel said it was firmly opposed to continued Big Four efforts to settle the Middle East dispute.

One year ago: President Nixon ordered a 60-day freeze on all retail prices, including food, to combat inflation.

Today's birthdays: Former football star Red Grange is 71. Atomic physicist Luis Alvarez is 63. Former boxing champion Mickey Walker is 73.

Thought for today: We have two ears and only one tongue in order that we may hear more and speak less — Diogenes, Greek philosopher, about 412-323 B.C.

They'll Do It Every Time



CARNIVAL by Dick Turner

"One good thing about inflation . . . it makes more room for us kids in these carts!"

SIDE GLANCES by Gill Fox

"This is my son Robert. I think he's bright enough but I haven't understood a word he's said since he was 14!"

2. Card of Thanks

I would like to thank all the people for their thoughfulness, during my illness. I would like to thank the First Baptist Church of Bertrand and all of the other churches for their prayers and flowers, and those who gave blood. Special thanks to Dr. Robins and Dr. Heeb, and all of the staff of the Sikeston Mo. Hospital. You were all so nice.
Thank You Luther Brown.

The ice cream sundae, one of today's most popular ice cream desserts, was born in Evanston, Illinois because of a strange law. When a law was passed forbidding the sale of ice cream sodas on Sunday, local merchants got around it by serving ice cream with just syrup. The "sodaless soda" came to be known as a "Sunday" but then objections arose naming a dessert after the Lord's Day, so it became known as a sundae, but it, like the soda, was not banned.

Something that homemakers like more than an ice cream sundae, a Miracle Water Refiner, was born not because of any law, but to create clean, refreshing sparkling water throughout your home. The Miracle Water Refiner not only softens, it cleans, removes taste and odor such as chlorine and it filters your water as well. Once you see and enjoy the difference, you will never want to go back to ordinary tap water. Your cooked foods will taste better, your floors and walls will sparkle, your laundry will smell fresher, be softer and cleaner. Call Braswell and find out more about this modern wonder today.

Extension cord causes fire

A faulty extension cord set fire to some brooms in the kitchen of Kellett's Restaurant, Highway 61 South, at 7:07 p.m. Wednesday.

A Greyhound Bus Driver grabbed the brooms and tossed them out the back door but the burning brooms landed under two fully-loaded gasoline tanker trucks.

Firemen extinguished the blaze before any damage was done.

Firemen said the fire started in a faulty extension cord on a fan in the kitchen.

There was no damage to the kitchen, firemen said.

Western Days set

BERNIE — The fourth annual Western Days will be held June 21-22 in downtown Bernie with sidewalk sales both days and many bargains offered by local merchants.

A street dance is scheduled from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday featuring a rock band.

A parade begins at 2 p.m. Saturday followed by such festivities as an old fashioned gun fight, watermelon eating, pie eating, root beer drinking, and tale spinning contests.

Anyone wishing to enter floats in the parade are asked to contact Mrs. Melba Thurston, Lednda Buttry, Ron Walker or any member of the Retail Merchants Committee.

1 seriously injured

Deborah Ann Howington, 19, of 101 Link Drive, escaped serious injury Wednesday night when she was struck by a pickup truck while riding her bicycle.

She was treated for multiple scratches and bruises at Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Police said Miss Howington apparently rode her bicycle onto North Main Street from Wakefield about 9 p.m. and was hit by a pickup truck.

The driver of the truck reportedly stopped to assist her. Another passerby took Miss Howington to the hospital. The truck driver left before police could get his name.

Accident injures 3

BENTON — Three persons received minor injuries in a one-car traffic accident Wednesday one mile north of Benton on Interstate 55 when the driver of the car and a passenger became involved in a scuffle.

The highway patrol reported today that Jackson Quisenberry, 61, of Cape Girardeau and a passenger, Jasper McKeller, 67, of Cape Girardeau began scuffling in the front seat of Quisenberry's car when McKeller grabbed the steering wheel, causing the car to run off the road and strike a sign.

Quisenberry, McKeller and Quisenberry's wife, Inolia, 40, received minor injuries and were taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Barnes returned to jail

BLOOMFIELD Kenneth Wayne Barnes, 28, of Hannibal, who escaped April 21 from the Stoddard County jail is back in custody today, according to the sheriff's department.

Barnes was arrested Wednesday night in Hannibal.

He was being held awaiting sentencing after he pleaded guilty in Circuit Court to a charge of writing a no funds check with intent to defaud.

Tape player stolen

A tape player and one tape were taken from a car belonging to Millie Kettles, 249 W. Kathleen Ave., while the car was parked at her house, police said today.

The theft occurred sometime Tuesday and Wednesday. No value was given for the player or tape.

A billfold containing $48 in cash was taken from a purse belonging to Mrs. Jim Turner, 424 S. Kingshighway. The theft was discovered Monday night.

The purse was in the bedroom at the time of the theft.

Commission said, but port authorities could and would attract the industries to those towns.

"If you don't do it (create a port authority) you're out," Lea said. "If you try to do it individually, you're out," he added.

Phil Shelton of the BRPC promised to meet with county courts over the next few weeks to work out the necessary steps for applying for permission to establish a port authority.

State Sen. Albert Spradling, one of the principal sponsors on the bill, will speak at 7:30 p.m. today to the New Madrid Chamber of Commerce at the Bank of New Madrid Community Room. He will discuss the port authority plan.

Lindsey charged

BLOOMFIELD — Don "Mudcat" Lindsey of Bernie has been charged with felonious assault in connection with the May 4 incident which resulted in the death of Leonard Stanfield of Bernie, according to the Stoddard County Sheriff's Department.

Preliminary hearing for Lindsay was set June 20 today in Magistrate Court.

The charge stems from an argument May 4 between the men outside a department store in Bernie. Stoddard County Coroner Ray Rainey said today the men began arguing in a tavern when Lindsey accused Stanfield of stealing $20. Stanfield left to make a purchase at the department store, Lindsey followed him and the argument took place. Lindsey struck Stanfield, who fell to the ground. He died the next day of an intra- cranial hemorrhage in Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

The finding of a coroner's inquest June 10 was that Stanfield died of unnatural causes contributed to by an act of violence. However, there was no conclusive evidence that there was criminal intent.

School board to help secure recreational space

DEXTER — After conferring with school board members Tuesday night, representatives of Dexter's Community Betterment Committee were assured of obtaining assistance from the board to secure recreational space for the program's projects.

Bob Robins, chairman of the committee, along with Lewis Jones, chairman of the Recreational Phase, met with board members to petition use of either the Junior High Gym or the Senior High Sym, or, if possible both, during the winter months for such sports as volleyball, basketball, etc. The winter recreational program evolves around efforts to achieve in the Community Betterment's Five Star Program, of which one program is recreational. The State Committee requires that a city the size of Dexter, in order to achieve a star, must be quipped with a thorough winter activities program.

Jones informed the board that four buildings were available: the armory, junior high, senior high and the housing authority. The armory was ruled out when it was learned that the ceiling is faulty and would not withstand the pressure of such vigorous sports. The housing authority building is not large enough for some of the planned events. Jones explained to the board the need for gym space on weeknights and some weekends whenever possible.

Loren Coffeey, board president, assured Jones that the space would be available some weeknights, but that both gyms follow a tight winter schedule. Arrangements will be made to secure the gym on Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday for adult winter sports.

Bids were read to the board last night for purchase of the Dexter High School Building Trades Class house, which was entirely built by the students. The house, which is located on One Mile Road, was sold to Mrs. Esther Worley, the highest bidder, for $36,568.00. A motion was passed to accept the bid.

Two representatives of the local Little League, Dale Hartline and Charles Felker, addressed the board Tuesday to assure their stand as to use of the Little League field located next to the Junior High School Building. The field is used throughout the summer months for Dexter's ball games. Felker and Hartline wanted assurance that the field would remain available indefinitely. Superintendent Hill told the two that the field was theirs to use in the summer months. Some repair in the field is needed, Hartline said.

A request to resurface a sidewalk located in front of the high school was declined by the board Tuesday. Members were asked to secure a total of $450 in costs to replace the cracked walk. Hill stated that the walk was not in extreme need of repair at this time.

Another request to install new windows in the cafeteria of Central Elementary School also was declined. The windows, which are steel-framed, are apparently showing signs of rust. The windows are periodically painted, Hill stated that "there is no need for total replacement."

Dennis Burns has been employed with the school system as custodian and board members noted that the school is short of janitorial help.

A motion was made to allow city officials to blacktop a portion of property located in front of the junior high school for the full length of the building. The sidewalk lining that area is badly breaking it was learned. The street is scheduled to be blacktopped this summer so workers will just extend their work and cover the damaged area.

The board decided that the school would purchase new backing for the high school auditorium drapes, which have been up 13 years without re-backing. At the same time, new drapes will be installed at the high school cafeteria at a total cost of $904 for both projects. The board will hire a local firm to do the work.

An auditor from Cape Girardeau who has audited Dexter books since 1939 has once again been secured to perform the task this year.

Applications for the 1974-75 school year programs were read and approved. A list of programs and finances needed for each was approved also.

Port authority part of industry draw

Port Authorities are not enough to attract industry to an area, a complete package of sites and facilities must be offered, Mike Houston, director of Government Services in Jefferson City said Wednesday night.

Houston spoke to area government leaders at a meeting at Ramada Inn designed to explore the mechanics of establishing a port authority in the Bootheel.

The proposed port authority would include Pemiscot, New Madrid, Mississippi, Scott, Cape Girardeau and Perry Counties.

Southeast Missouri can take the lead in developing a package to attract industry under the port authority bill, Houston said.

The package must consist of the port authority, railroad lines, access to interstate highway, buildings, and utilities.

The more the area has to sell, the better chance the area has of attracting industry, he added.

Cities and counties are allowed to establish port authorities under a bill passed this session in the legislature and due to be signed next week by Gov. Christopher Bond.

To qualify for a port authority the city or county must be located adjacent to a navigable waterway.

Leaders of the Wednesday night's discussion stressed the need for multi-county port authorities to off-set the political power of St. Louis in obtaining approval and funds for port authorities.

The reason for creating port authorities is their attractiveness to industry. Once a port authority is created, facilities can be built and financed through revenue bonds.

The authority could build a facility for a business with revenue bonds at six or seven per cent instead of bank interest rates of 11 or 12 per cent. The bonds would be repaid out of rent the business paid for the facility.

In addition, a harbor for river traffic would give businesses access to low- cost transportation. River shipping rates are said to be lower than either trains or trucks.

Those seemed to be in general agreement that it was necessary for area cities and counties to work together to create large port authorities.

The plan tentatively calls for a regional port authority comprising the six counties, subdivided into two districts. Perry, Cape Girardeau and Scott County will be located in one district and Mississippi, New Madrid and Pemiscot Counties in the other.

It is impossible for individual cities to put facilities on the river, Pat Lea, director fo the Bootheel Regional Planning

E. Prairie man given 2 years

CHARLESTON — Larry Johnson of East Prairie was sentenced Tuesday by Circuit Judge Marshall Craig to two years in the State Department of Corrections after he entered a plea of guilty to a stealing charge.

The charge against Johnson stemmed from the Nov. 1, 1973 theft of a portable television, combination stereo and speakers from the Melvin Guinn home located near East Prairie. Johnson was given credit for 12 days spent in jail prior to sentencing.

Jerry Husketh of Charleston, who entered a voluntary plea of guilty to a statutory rape charge on May 31, was given a suspended two year sentence and placed on two year probation on condition he obey the law, pay court costs and remain under the supervision of his probation officer. The charge against Husketh was in connection with the Jan. 23 rape of a Charleston girl under the age of 16.

Roger Mannon of East Prairie withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty to a statutory rape charge, stemming from the Feb. 4 rape of an East Prairie girl under the age of 16. Mannon received a suspended two year sentence and was placed on three year probation on conditions he obey the law, pay court costs and remain under the supervision of his probation officer.

A one year sentence in the county jail assessed Fletcher Allen of Charleston on a fraudulent check charge was suspended and he was placed on two year probation. Allen, who entered a voluntary plea of guilty to passing a $10 check at the Martin Oil Co. in Charleston on Oct. 21, 1973, was ordered to remain under the supervision of his probation officer, obey the law, pay court costs and not frequent taverns or become intoxicated.

Albertine Johnson of Charleston, whose punishment was taken under advisement after she pleaded guilty May 14 to a forgery charge, was given a suspended one year jail sentence and placed on two year probation. Miss Johnson was charged with forging the name of Guy Eula Johnson to a $121 check and passing it at Cecil's Tobacco Store in Charleston on or about Jan. 15.

Final decrees of dissolution of marriage were granted Peggy B. Moore and William G. Moore; Alouise Carter Fenton and Thomas Page Fenton.

Cline will comply with campaign law

State Rep. C. F. Cline, D-Sikeston, today announced plans to comply with the provisions of the proposed campaign expenditure law, even though the proposal was not passed by the legislature.

Cline made the announcement at a press conference in his district office in the Sikeston Activity Center on South Kingshighway.

He urged all other candidates to comply with the proposal.

The rules Cline will abide by include, listing by name anyone who contributes more than $25, filing a report listing expenditures and contriubution with the county clerks of Scott and Stoddard counties and with the Secretary of State, 30 days before and 30 days after the election.

Cline added he will limit his expeditures to 10 cents per voter, based on the number of people who voted in the last Presidential election. That would limit his expenditures to about $2,300.

He named Joseph Craven jr., 6 Beaird Drive, as chairman of the Cline for Representative Committee. Mrs. Dorris Stephens, 932 David Blvd., has been appointed treasurer.

Cline also announced that Mrs. Marge Lemmons of Salcedo has been hired as a part-time secretary for his district offices in Sikeston and Bloomfield.

The Sikeston office will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Thursday. The Bloomfield office will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Lemmons previously spent four years with the Bell City office of the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corp.

Cline said that each member of the legislature is allowed to hire a secretary for their home office up to 50 hours per month.

Burglary suspect arrested

Police arrested Wayne Harris, 17, of Route three, Wednesday night for burglary after he was allegedly caught during a break- in at Lambert's Cafe, Highway 61 South.

Police said he had broken into a safe at Hambrick Electric Co., 505 Greer St., just prior to the break- in at Lamberts.

Police were called at 11:30 p.m. by Nick Zaharopoulos, owner of the Grecian Steakhouse, 531 Greer St. after he allegedly saw Harris go through a fan opening in the south side off the cafe.

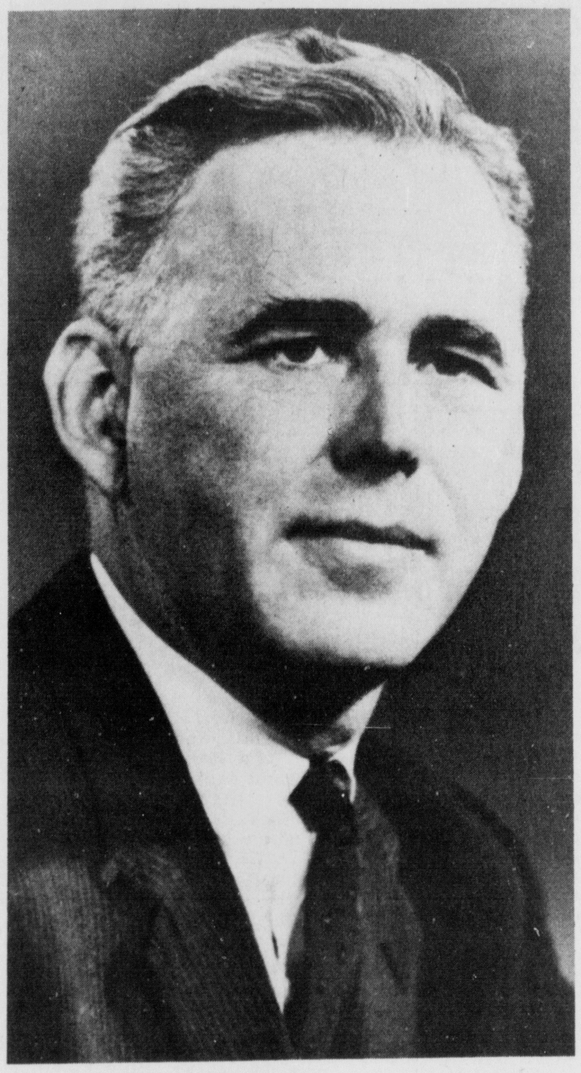
When police arrived they allegedly saw Harris inside the building. He tried to escape out a door, but was stopped.

Police say Harris has admitted breaking open the safe at Hambrick with a hammer and chisel. He took about $200 from the safe and a soft drink machine. He entered the building through a window about 10:30 p.m., police said.

After leaving Hambrick, Harris walked east through the alley to Lambert's.

The officers who caught Harris were Brad Wilson, John Evans, Charles Sherrard and Lawarance Woodward.

Other arrests announced today include William Joseph Urhahn of Benton, speeding; Doris Nell Lowe, 512 N. Kingshighway, speeding; Delena Barker, 230 E. Kathleen Ave., peace disturbance; Roger Lee Barker, 230 E. Kathleen Ave., peace disturbance; and Ezell Appelwhite, 318 Luther St., assault and battery.



Bruce Allen

Noranda to double capacity

Bruce R. Allen, vice president and general manager of Noranda Aluminum Inc., announced today the company's intention to add 70,000 tons of annual capacity to its aluminum reduction plant in St. Jude Industrial Park.

Allen said that construction would begin shortly and that the additional capacity should come on stream during 1976.

The company, which was formed in 1968, presently operates a 70,000 ton aluminum reduction plant and a cable plant at its facility. The existing plant was completed in 1971 and has operated at capacity since that time.

He added that the additional capacity is required because of increased demand for the company's products, particularly wire and cable for the electric utility industry and extrusion billet used by independent fabricators and Norandex Inc. and an affiliated company which is a leading supplier of aluminum residential building products.

Upon completion of the expansion, it is expected that an additional 250 employes will be required which will increase the company's annual payroll from about $6 million a year to over $9 million a year.

Clean water list juggled

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Up to $60 million in federal funds for sewage treatment projects could go to 60 counties, cities, water and sewer districts under a second revision of a priority list under study by the Missouri Clean Water Commission.

The commission scheduled a fourth and final meeting on the matter June 24 after hearing testimony on the list Wednesday.

Testimony in the May 22 hearing, reduction of a reserve for inflation, and reduction of several requests resulted in juggling of the priority list which formerly included only 24 projects.

Jack K. Smith, commission executive secretary, said that because of the impoundment of federal funds, "it is now impossible" for several large secondary treatment projects placed at the top of the previous list to be completed by July 1, 1977, the federal deadline for secondary treatment.

The commission has $64.7 million in federal grants available to allocate for the 1974-75 fiscal year.

By withholding about $16 million for cost increases, 46 projects could be funded, with the community of Bourbon being the cutoff point. By withholding $5 million for cost increases, the minimum recommended by the commission staff, 60 projects, with Independence being the cutoff point, could be funded from a total of $59.5 million.

The Metropolitan Sewer District of St. Louis reduced its request by $3.3 million, St. Peters cut its request by $103,000, and Washington reduced its request by $400,000. Those reductions will allow Independence to fund two-thirds of its $6.6 million project —if the commission votes to hold $5 million instead of $16 million in reserve.

Most of the grant requests are for construction, although some are for planning money.

Representatives of the Missouri Cities Water Co. and the St. Charles County Utilities Co., again contested the $863,000 request of St. Peters, contending the project is not needed because it would duplicate services provided by their companies.

St. Peters officials said the city of 3,500 is expected to grow to 14,000 in three years and they can't waint until the houses are constructed before putting in sewage facilities.

The commission staff was instructed to investigate the dispute.

A representative from Bucklin contended he wasn't notified when the commission changed its point system on rating priorities and did not have a change to change his application or testify before the commission at the May 22 meeting.

SeMo towns among clean water priorities

The Missouri Clean Water Commission has drawn up a list of priorities for applicants for federal funds in 1974-75. Included in that list and the amount of federal grant requests are:

Essex, $88,290; Hayti Heights, $4,303; Hayti, $37,760; Bernie, $171,000; and Fisk, $10,000.

New kindergarten considered

The Sikeston Board of Education is studying the feasiblity of building a new kindergarten building to replace the old wooden structure now in use on the airport grounds, according to Superintendent of Schools, Sam Harbin.

If the board approves the building, it could be ready for use in two years, Harbin said.

Harbin said the board has set the kindergarten as the top priority in future building projects.

The board is currently studying the district's bonding capacity and debt service revenue to determine if it has the funds to pay for the building under the present tax structure.

Another committee is looking for a suitable location.

The current kindergarten facility was built in 1942 as an Army Air Force training barricks and has been remodled to house the school.

A committee of 20 parents and teachers examined the building in May and found several problems, including deterioration of the building, making it impossible to keep it in good repair; inadequate heat control in severe winter weather and no cooling on hot autumn and spring days; lack of carpeting and storage for instructional materials in classrooms; lack of storage for student equipment; lack of individual class bathrooms, water and sink facilities, equipment for cooking and refrigeration of food items and lack of recommended furniture for kindergarten classrooms.

No multi- purpose activity or assembly room, no office - work areas for teacher specialits, no lounge-work area and private bathroom for staff The campus is noisey with trains, planes, and large trucks causing classroom interruptions.

The playground is too small and does not have appropriate equipment located in protected areas; there is inadquate parking area for staff and visitors and unsafe access and departure routes for buses and cars.

The committee said "improvements for most of the above weaknesses and inadequacies could not be made at the existing kindergarten site due to prohibitive costs, limited land space and conjestion and noise over which the school has no control.

The present building does have three strong points,the committee said It is centrally located, it has large classrooms, and the central unit approach fosters cooperative teaching, standardization of curriculum, sharing of instruction materials and other economies.

The committee recommended the kindergarten building be given top priority by the board of education.

Harbin said the new building would probably have 10 classrooms.

There will be an estimated 350 children in kindergarten next year, Harbin said.

2 draw year in county jail

BENTON — After pleading guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated, Solman Ferguson and Sherman Isbell of Sikeston were sentenced to one year in the county jail by Judge Lloyd Briggs Wednesday in Magistrate Court.

Trial was set July 10 for Robert William Witt of Scott City who is charged with possession of intoxicating liquor and careless and imprudent driving. Another charge against Witt of having possession of a roach clip (a device used for smoking marijuana) was continued until July 10.

Donald Gene Wiley of Scott City, who is charged with underage possession of intoxicating liquor, was granted one week to obtain an attorney.

A possession of marijuana case against Donald Gene Wiley of Scott City was continued until June 19 to give him time to obtain an attorney.

Preliminary hearing was set June 25 for Betty Jean Huffman, also known as Betty J. Oliver of Wauchula, Fla., after she pleaded not guilty to a defraud charge.

Dewayne Tripp of Sikeston was fined $150 and given a one- year suspended jail sentence and placed on supervised probation for two years after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Imposition of sentence was deferred until June 11, 1975 for Larry Perrin of Springfield who is charged with driving while intoxicated. Perrin was placed on supervised probation.

Bond was forfeited and a warrant was issued for Ernest Eugene Weems of Sikeston after he failed to appear in court on a charge of making a false report to a police officer.

A felonious charge of concealing a dangerous weapon against Joseph Anderson of Sikeston was continued until June 19.

After pleading guilty to a charge of driving while license was suspended, Phillip Lee Johnson of Sikeston was sentenced to one year in the county jail.

A change of venue to Mississippi County was granted to Hershel Eugene Smith of Dexter who is charged with driving an overweight truck.

A case against Phillip Luttrell of Cape Girardeau was continued until June 26 to give him time to obtain an attorney. Luttrell is charged with stealing a 1972 automobile from Andrew Shaefer.

Warrants were issued for the arrest of Daniel J. Shaffer of Sikeston and Marvin L. Walls of Bertrand who failed to appear in court on charges of hunting wildlife without a license.

Violators fined for speeding included:

Leon Orlo Garnett of Sikeston, $27.50; Stanley Ray Hollifield of Sikeston, $13; Michael Houston Jones of Sikeston, $15; Bobby Joe Montgomery of Oran, $45; David Richard Brown of Milwaukee, Wis., $25; Leonard Vernell McGee, $35; Earl Devorse, Jr., of St. Louis, $17; Ethel Mae Flippin, $15;

Burlison announces his candicacy for re-election

WASHINGTON, D. C. — In announcing his candidacy for re- election Missouri 10th District, U. S. Rep. Bill D. Burlison of Cape Girardeau, Mo. said, "I believe my constituents approve of the moderate representation they have received during my terms of office. My people do not want an advocate of the radicals on the one hand or the reactionaries on the other."

Burlison also said he felt his constituents were aware of his being constantly on the job as evidenced by the fact that he again leads the Missouri delegation in voting attendance.

The third term Democrat said he welcomed the challenge of representing one of the nation's most diverse congressional districts, bounded by the Mississippi Delta on the south, urban industry on the north, and the Ozarks and lead mining industry on the west. The district also contains more Mississippi River shoreline than any other.

"I am proud of the fact that while giving vigorous representation to my farm interests while serving on the Subcommittee on Agriculture, I at the same time am given a perfect voting record by the Consumer Federation of America. That selection is shared with Congresswoman Leonor K. Sullivan of St. Louis, who is prominent as an advocate of consumer legislation," he continued.

Bill Burlison

Burlison noted that in spite of the fact that he was a relatively new member of Congress he was able to start up the ladder on probably the most important committee in the House, the Committee on Appropriations. This position aided his district during this term, he said, in receiving funds for agriculture, drainage and flood control, housing, water and sewer, and other essential programs.

"As all observant and thoughtful citizens know, a congressman's effectiveness is measured in considerable part by the number of terms he is able to serve. I hope the 10th District is content with my stewardship of their interests, and thus wish me to continue," he added.

Burlison also noted that House Speaker Carl Albert of McAlester, Okla. recently had designated him to be the presiding officer on the house floor for the four hours of debate and votes on the Atomic Energy Commission bill authorizing amost $4 billion for fiscal year 1975 to carry out its military and civil energy projects.

FLAG DAY — 1974

On June 14, Americans will pause to honor their flag.

Much has changed in America and her people since 1777, when Philadelphia seamstress Betsy Ross produced the first national banner with its 13 stars and alternating red and white stripes.

Yet "Old Glory" continues to hold deep meaning for all patriotic Americans.

It was President Woodrow Wilson who first proclaimed that Flag Day would be observed each year on June 14. That was in 1916, and he emphasized:

"We celebrate the day of the flag's birth, and from its birth until now it has witnessed great history; has floated on high - the symbol of great events, of a great plan of life, worked out by a great people."

This June 14, as we repeat the Pledge of Allegiance at meetings and sports events; as we salute our flag when it passes on parade; as we see it waving over our nation's homes and schools and places of business; let us remember the proud heritage for which it stands: "One Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

* * *

Polls in general would seem to indicate four or five per cent of the people are cautious enough to keep their mouth shut, with no opinion.

There really aren't many new sins - the old ones are just getting better publicity now-a-days.

FLAG DAY

When they look at the Flag of the United States, high atop a flagpole, many people can see nothing but a piece of cloth silhouetted against the sky, and this is unfortunate. If they would look only a little more carefully, adding an element of reflection, they would see the banner's brightness as a symbol of the freedom and liberty cherished and protected at great sacrifice since the birth of our nation.

By Presidential proclamation, Friday, June 14 is Flag Day across the nation. Displaying the Flag on this special occasion is a way in which we can express patriotism -- the spirit of love and devotion to a national heritage of "... one Nation, under God, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all." But we should remember that patriotism is shown not only by heroism on the battlefield, but by the practice of good citizenship in peacetime as well. This Flag Day each citizen should display the flag as a simple gesture of faith in the ideals of personal liberty for which our country stands.

DANGEROUS MYTHS

Features and Facts for Women, a publication of the American Petroleum Institute, presents some old facts in new garb entitled "Old Wives' Tales and Other Myths." Among the old wives' tales it mentioned legendary folk remedies such as placing a sharp ax beneath the bed to cut the pain of childbirth. No less silly, the piece goes on to observe some of the myths that have become attached to the energy industry, especially petroleum.

For instance, the myth persists that anyone with an oil well in his backyard probably has a fleet of Cadillacs at his front door. As a matter of fact, the average oil well in the United States produces only 17.2 barrels a day. At an average price of $3.40 per barrel the operator of such a well would realize a gross income of about $51 a day after paying the royalty owner one eighth of the value of production. Also, the myth is still prevalent that the oil industry enjoys special benefits from that magical tax loophole known as the "oil depletion allowance." But, such tax provisions, characterized as "loopholes", were carefully written into law to accomplish certain objectives. They allow for various deductions available to taxpayers of all income levels, and include those permitted for charitable contributions, medical expenses, home mortgage interest expenses and the like.

The mineral depletion provision is available to over 100 minerals. It takes into consideration the high risk to the investor who must find new deposits of these minerals and provides an incentive for capital investment. Most old wives' tales are harmless. Those pertaining to the oil industry present a clear and present danger to future energy supplies.

"LET'S HEAR IT"

(In these days of unrelieved foreboding and gloomy news, all of us in this country could do with a little bucking up.

It isn't often that we get a chance to see ourselves as a neighbor sees us— and be cheered by the image.

Some time ago Gordon Sinclair, the Canadian radio and TV commentator, broadcast an editorial from Toronto. Any number of people in this country heard it or have since read it, as it has been widely reprinted in newspapers in the U. S. It was inserted in the "Congressional Record" and became the subject of many editorials.

Mr. Sinclair's commentary makes especially heartening reading right now. For the benefit of those who have missed it, excerpts are presented here.— Howard Flieger, Editor— U. S. News and World Report).

This Canadian thinks it is time to speak up for the Americans as the most generous and possibly the least appreciated people on all the earth...

Germany, Japan and, to a lesser extent, Britain and Italy were lifted out of the debris of war by the Americans who poured in billions of dollars and forgave other billions in debts. None of these countries is today paying even the interest on its remaining debts to the United States.

When the franc was in danger of collapsing in 1956, it was the Americans who propped it up, and their reward was to be insulted and swindled on the streets of Paris.

I was there. I saw it.

When distant cities are hit by earthquakes, it is the United States that hurries in to help....This spring, 59 American communities (were) flattened by Tornadoes. Nobody helped.

The Marshall Plan and the Truman Policy pumped billions upon billions of dollars into discouraged countries. Now newspapers in those countries are writing about the decadent, warmongering Americans.

I'd like to see just one of those countries that is gloating over the erosion of the United States dollar build its own airplanes.

Come on, let's hear it!

Does any other country in the world have a plane to equal the Boeing Jumbo Jet, the Lockheed Tristar or the Douglas 10?

If so, why don't they fly them? Why do all the international lines except Russia fly American planes?

Why does no other land on earth even consider putting a man or woman on the moon?

You talk about Japanese technocracy, and you get radios. You talk about German technocracy, and you get automobiles.

You talk about American technocracy, and you find men on the moon— not once but several times— and safely home again.

You talk about scandals and the American put theirs right in the store window for everybody to look

Even their draft- dodgers are not pursued and hounded. They are here on our streets, and most of them— unless they are breaking Canadian laws— are getting American dollars from Ma and Pa at home to spend here...

When the railways of France, Germany and India were breaking down through age, it was the American who rebuilt them. When the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central went broke, nobody loaned them an old caboose. Both are still broke.

I can name you 5,000 times when the Americans raced to the help of other people in trouble. Can you name me even one time when someone else raced to the Americans in trouble?

I don't think there was outside help even during the San Francisco earthquake.

Our neighbors have faced it alone, and I'm one Canadian who is damned tired of hearing them kicked around.

They will come out of this thing with their flag high. And when they do, they are entitled to thumb their nose at the lands that are gloating over their present troubles.

I hope Canada is not one of these.

WHEN STREET WISDOM, JOB SKILLS DON'T MIX

For all their efforts, job-training programs have been unable to move significant numbers of able- bodied but "motivationally unemployed" people— often inner- city black youths— into the economic mainstream.

One social scientist disturbed by this failure is Nathan Caplan of the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research. After a decade of work with various job- training projects, Caplan, along with other professionals in the field, was bewildered and frustrated by the apparent ineffectiveness of the programs.

In search of a plausible explanation, he examined data from two social intervention projects: One a five- year program of street club work and community organization in Chicago and the other a one-year job development program aimed at hard- to- employ youths.

He discovered that time after time, failure was most frequent among those youths who appeared to hold the greatest chance for success. Because of their promising leadership abilities, these youths received the most intensive help from counselors. Many of them progressed rapidly through all stages of the training program, only to balk on the very threshhold of success. When the time came to get and hold a job, they would suddenly, inexplicably fail.

Caplan now believes that the high incidence of failure among many of these inner-city youths is not because they were unmotivated or unskilled but rather because they were highly motivated and highly skilled.

Like most persons, they are motivated to do the things they can do best, and the skills they have mastered are those which insure their social sufficiency and survival within the ghetto community.

But paradoxically, the skills which may make a man an "executive" in the street— hustling, rapping, fighting, athletics and so forth— may also make him a failure as a dishwasher, mechanic or maintenance man.

Being tough and cool, for example, are often important personal traits among inner-city youths, but may be unacceptable sings of hostility and unco- operativeness in the normal working environment.

In order to succeed at a straight job, Caplan feels, the inner- city youth must sacrifice too much of his personal worth and dignity. Entering a job program means to many young men that they must pay a painful psychological price— the abandonment of a healthy, positive self- image gained through their competence at street skills.

Caplan's findings and his theory of "competing competencies" indicate that for job- training programs to have maximum impact, they will have to recognize that knowledge of a person's existing skills may be more important to predicting future behavior than any other information about him.

While such programs might expect to provide a chance for self- development and economic livelihood to youths with a limited number of previous street skills, they face a different challenge in motiviating many of the more talented, intelligent youths with an abundance of such skills.

Beyond this, the findings lend further support to the belief that human beings are molded and motivated by the competencies they acquire as part of the socialization experience during late childhood and adolescence.

As Caplan says, "To a large extent, we are what we can do, particularly, what we can do well."

Calvert Distillers used a very simple mailing to reactivate old accounts. Each salesman was asked to jot down the names of 100 dealers who had not placed an order during the past year. The company sent a personalized letter to the dealer stating that a salesman would soon be appearing on the scene with a gift.

Mailings were staggered so that salesmen could keep up with the appointments. Results were exceptionally good. In Los Angeles alone, Calvert salesmen made 856 calls on inactive accounts and sold 521 of them for a 609 batting average.

ROCKY ACRES UP FOR SHALE

One of the resources mentioned by President Nixon in his call for a crash program to achieve energy independence by 1980 was the vast oil shale deposits in the western part of the United States.

Estimates of how much oil is locked in the rocks of Colorado, Utah and Wyoming range from three to eight trillion barrels. The Department of the Interior estimates that there are 1.8 trillion barrels of oil in rock that yields at least 15 barrels a ton when the hydrocarbons it contains are heated and converted into crude oil. Another 600 billion barrels may be in richer veins that yield at least 25 barrels a ton.

Unlike coal, oil shale yields a "clean" product which would aid in the fight against air pollution. Because of price increases imposed by the oil-producing countries of the Middle East, oil shale products are now becoming competitive with conventional oil products.

Several extraction techniques have been tested, but only one has been announced ready for commercial application— the TOSCO II process developed by The Oil Shale Corporation.

Up to now, the federal government, which owns 80 per cent of the oil shale deposits, has pursued a go-slow policy. But it is now preparing to offer leases on six tracts in the three- state area for oil shale development.

The Department of the Interior which will administer the program, has established strict procedures to insure protection of the environment.

According to Interior, production of one million barrels a day of shale oil should be attainable by the mid-1980s, with a potential output of several million barrels a day.

Cynthia came back from a cruise and confided to her girl friend that she had met a man on board ship and had become engaged to him. She showed her friend a picture of her husband- to- be.

"You can't marry that man," the girl friend squealed. "He's too old for you."

"That doesn't matter," replied Cynthia firmly. "Jonathan is a fine man. I'm sure we'll get along very nicely."

"But," shrieked her friend, "from his picture I'd guess he's at least twenty years older than you are. Your interests won't be the same."

"You don't understand," retorted Cynthia.

"Nothing's important except that I love Jonathan for what he is."

"And exactly what is he?"

"President of a big bank."

THE RICH AND THE POOR

It has frequently been said that the rich and powerful endeavor to keep the poor in misery and suppression. Long ago intelligent people ceased to believe that the rich desire to exploit the poor — it would be detrimental to their own interests. The observation is that the rich are in agreement on one point only: they do not wish to be poor. Who does?

The rich have established foundations for research into economics, medicine, science, education, and every other branch of knowledge. They have built hospitals and universities, hoping that through their philanthropy all might be helped to become wise, healthy, and well- to - do.

Every scrap of knowledge, painfully assembled through the centuries, is available to the poor as well as the rich in public and university libraries, founded, for the most part, by rich men. The professors and intellectuals, who are supposed to be the poor man's advocate in his struggles, are unable to agree among themselves as to why some are rich and others poor.

There is no real fight between the rich and the poor. The rich are doing more for the poor, year in and year out, than the poor are doing for themselves. A wise economist has said, "You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich."

Dead Man's Tales: White House Woos Big Labor Again

WASHINGTON -- It's a pity dead men tell no tales. If one of them, the late George T. Bell--a former special assistant to the President--could, it would soon become obvious that there was as much stupidity as cupidity in Charles Colson's executive suite. It was the then 56-year-old, genial sailing enthusiast, Bell, who invented the "opponents list."

When taken aboard the White House in 1969 he was a whilom space engineer type who had sold his interest in a firm called "Geo-nautics." This made him a poor millionaire with time on his hands. Soon Bell, despite his official title, actually was special assistant to Dick Nixon's special counsel, Colson.

And of all specialties to give this gracious, good- humored George Bell, they gave him the "labor account."

Those were the days when Bob Haldeman, in addition to collecting homemade movies of the President, was specializing in collecting the most amazing band of political amateurs under one roof in the history of contemporary civilization.

Thus the late George Bell, who didn't know a union dues stamp from an Outer Mongolian visa, was in effect appointed special liaison official with the tough sophisticated labor movement.

What eventually happened was disastrous for the White House -- and its background looms large now that the President once more is quietly seeking reestablishment of diplomatic relations with the movement.

Replacing Chuck Colson now is William Baroody, Jr., once a special aide and confidant of Mel Laird when the latter was Secretary of Defense. And assisting Bill Baroody, replacing, if that's the word, George Bell, is Dr. Theodore Marrs. The latter has just been appointed and is winding up his affairs at the Pentagon where he has been Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense in the manpower section.

Baroody knows the labor movement. His former chief Mel Laird, when counsellor to the President for domestic affairs and especially during the weeks he (Laird) was "breaking in Jerry Ford," would drop over to AFL- CIO headquarters and "rap" with labor chief George Meany. During this period, Baroody again was Laird's aide.

It is significant that in all this Watergate vortex, Baroody and Marrs will attempt a reasoned and pragmatic effort to open the White House itself again to labor leaders -- those who want to come.

They won't make Bell's errors. Bell was "memo mad." He'd put everything down. It was part of his executive industrial training. One day he decided to list some men who were friendly. And some who weren't. That was in 1971.

One of his earliest lists sounded like he was reporting to John Dean what might be the equivalent of a Revolutionary War memo to George Washington pointing that his opponents were King George III and Gen. Burgoyne. There were moments when Bell became rattled.

Few were aware that he was the operator of something called "evening at the Blair House." Some 20 labor leaders and businessmen would be invited to the Blair House for royal treatment. They would sit around at cocktail hour with Henry Kissinger, for example, and then go into dinner for good fellowship and briefing.

Bell once invited (Feb. 24, 1972) the meat cutters union president Joseph Belsky and Kenneth Brown, president of the Lithographers and Photoengravers International Union to sit with the mighty. No one knew why they were chosen. Especially the two men. You couldn't swing them to Dick Nixon with a 50- ton derrick. Poor Bell began to make longer memos on friend and foe. Four months later Belsky and Brown were on an opponents list

Such lists tickled Chuck Colson, Bell's boss. He had assigned a bright researcher Joanne Gordon (now in the Labor Dept.) to Bell. She pumped out some of these lists to the strangest assortment of White House officials -- but most always to John Dean.

So the lists escalated all over the place. Also memos containing all sorts of information on the labor movement and its leaders. Word got back soon enough to Meany and the others. But still at least two AFL-CIO vice presidents (at that time) talked regularly with Bell and Colson.

To insiders this got to be known as the "White House Outreach" program. About April 1972, Bell became ill. He went home and stayed there though his name was still on the White House board and his secretary still answered "Mr. Bell's Office."

On March 13, 1973, he died. And since he had sat for several years cheek- by- jowl with Chuck Colson, lots of secrets died with him, though he has barely been mentioned in the hundreds of millions of Watergate words. Basically the Colson- Bell objective was to "get Meany." They failed. Meany doesn't "get" easily.

Liaison with labor was maintained by Treasury Secretary Shultz, his now Harvard- bound protege Dean John Dunlop, and finally Mel Laird They're all gone now.

So the assignment has gone to Bill Baroody and the still unknown Dr. Marrs. They'll have to do it the hard way. Without lists. And without walking over any grandmothers.

WHAT DID HENRY GIVE?

WASHINGTON — No one is quite certain what kind of deals Henry Kissinger made to get a settlement in the Middle East, but President Nixon probably is finding out this week.

I can imagine a scene at a great reception given by President Sadat of Egypt where leaders from all the Arab lands have gathered to meet the President of the United States. Henry is standing next to President Nixon in the receiving line and introducing the Arabs to the President.

"Mr. President," Henry says, "this is Sheik Kaleli Abrim."

Sheik Abrim shakes hands with Mr. Nixon. "My father sends his respects and asks me to thank you on behalf of our family for giving us the state of Rhode Island."

President Nixon appears startled and whispers to Henry, "Did we give Rhode Island to the Abrim family?"

Henry whispers back, "They wanted California, but I talked them into taking Rhode Island instead."

"What did we get in exchange;" the President asks.

"A steady, two- year supply of oil at $14 a barrel."

"Hmmm," the President says, "I guess nobody will mind losing Rhode Island."

The sheik moves on and Henry introduces the next Arab leader.

"This, Mr. President, is Hakim Assou, the Egyptian minister of public works."

Mr. Assou bows. "It is a great honor I finally meet the noble benefactor of Egypt."

"What did we give (ital) them (unital)?" the President whispers to Henry.

Henry replies, "The Ford Motor Co."

"In Egypt?" the President asks.

Henry blushes. "The Ford Motor Co. in the United States. You see, in order to get a settlement in Syria we needed help from the Egyptians. The only way we could get help from them was to give them something in exchange. I thought the Ford Motor Co. would be a nice quid pro quo."

"Has anyone told Henry Ford?"

"Not yet. I didn't want it to leak to the press."

Mr. Assou moves on and Henry introduces Fata Fatima the leader of a splinter Maoist Palestinian guerrilla band.

Fatima refuses to shake hands with the President. He tells Henry, "I have been talking with my brothers and we have decided you tricked us when you offered us three squadrons of Phantom jets. We will not go to Geneva unless we receive three nuclear submarines."

"What the devil?" the President says to Henry.

Henry whispers, "Don't pay any attention to him He's all talk. They'll take the three squadrons of Phantom jets."

"Are you sure we want to give these people Phantom jets?"

"I had to give them (ital) something (unital)." Henry says defensively.

The next Arab leader is Aleki Mossad, the Syrian minister of tourism.

"Oh, Great One," Mossad says, "you have saved the Syrian tourist industry."

The President looks questioningly at Henry.

Henry says, "I forgot to tell you last week, in order to get the Syrians off the Golan Heights I promised them Las Vegas. We have to sign the deed after lunch."

Before the President can meet the next Arab leader, President Sadat tells Mr. Nixon he has an urgent call from Golda Meir.

After five minutes a rather upset President returns to the receiving line.. He whispers to Henry, "Did you give Israel the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey?"

"Come to think of it," Henry says, "I did. Originally they demanded Alaska, but I told them it was out of the question."

CRIMINAL CONSPIRACY

The hard core of the Symbionese Liberation Army, a group of politically orientated radicals who deal in crime, was destroyed in a shoot-out at a house in Los Angeles recently, but the shock of the activities of these people lives on. Various members of the "Army" have been involved in kidnapping, bank robbery, theft and extortion, the authorities say.

The "Army" is not the only group posing serious threat to our society. Criminal mobsters operating in most of the large cities of the nation commit serious crimes daily and extort millions through the rackets. The crime problem does not stop there, however. Individuals acting alone continue to prey on citizens and their property. Street crimes are at a serious stage as officers of the law stretch their thin ranks to cope with one of the most trying problems confronting the U.S.

The brazen actions of the SLA dramatize the pressing necessity of checking crime now and eradicating it in the future. Generally, there are adequate laws to deal with criminals but the crux of the matter lies in their enforcement. That is where citizens enter the picture. Our jury service and cooperation with the law enforcement agencies are necessary to ensure a victory over the criminal element. This column still advocates wide participation in a program called Law-Aid, whose function is recognition of the problems of local police and the good work done by most law enforcement agancies. Any program supporting sound law enforcement is a contribution to freedom. HLH

Dexter chamber told of betterment work

DEXTER — Bob Robbins of the Community Betterment Committee reported to the Chamber of Commerce at a noon luncheon held Wednesday at the Hickory Log Restaurant of work being done to make Dexter a five- star city.

Dexter now has three stars and the Community Betterment Committee is making plans to complete projects under community service and transportation to complete the program.

Community service projects under way include a community health unit and leisure time activities. Additional curbing will be needed within the transportation project.

Bob Diel reported to the Chamber on an industrial survey being conducted in the Dexter area.

Yewell Lawrence reported on progress made on Dexter's Hidden Trails Recreational Center.

Shed burns in New Madrid

NEW MADRID — Firemen were called at 7:40 p.m. Wednesday to extinguish a fire at 4:11 Riley St. where a frame storage shed was burning at the rear of the Dan Downard home.

The shed, believed to have been ignited by sparks from burning trash, was nearly destroyed.

William Ladd was an American advocate of international peace who founded the American Peace Society in 1828. In 1840, Ladd wrote "Essay on a Congress of Nations," which proposed a world organization to formulate principles of international law and a court of arbitration to settle disputes by judicial decision, The World Almanac notes.

Ann Landers

Readers uphold, criticize columns on sex and VD

Dear Ann Landers: I am wondering just how far the publishers will let you go before they decide to throw your column out of the newspapers. I'm sick and tired of trying to beat my teen-agers to the front porch to see if your column is fit for them to read.

I refer specifically to some of the trash you have printed on two subjects: homosexuality and venereal disesase.

First, let me tell you we get the morning paper. When you described the symptoms of VD, it ruined my breakfast. I don't consider such material appropriate fare for the breakfast table.

Furthermore, you put ideas into the heads of these kids. Some of the things you print would not have entered their minds for several years if you hadn't brought them up. My 11- year- old asked me yesterday, "What is a homosexual?" How on earth can you explain THAT to a mere child?

You have made life difficult for me and I resent it. Sex education belongs in the home and not in the newpaper. I believe in giving children information when they are ready for it, not before. -- No Fan of Yours

Dear No Fan: Children of all ages deserve honest answers to any and all questions. An 11- year- old who asks: "What is a homosexual?" should be told it is a person who prefers a member of his (or her) own sex to those of the opposite sex. No more details are necessary.

Are you aware that in spite of the fact that we now have a cure for VD, there are millions of untreated people in this country who are infecting others every day? Eleven is not too young for children to know about these crippling diseases. From the sound of your letter, your kids need to read my column because I don't think you are emotionally mature or well enough informed to give them straight answers.

The next letter might be of interest to you:

Dear Ann Landers: I believe the most valuable service you have performed in all the years you've been writing is the information you have given our youth on the symptoms and hazards of VD.

I am the principal of a school in North Carolina. Your column has appeared in our paper for 17 years, and your column was the first in which they ever printed anything about VD.

I remember the stir it caused at a PTA meeting back in 1956. People actually chose up sides. The enlightened parents in our school applauded you. They said they discussed your column with their children and it helped put things in the proper perspective. The unenlightened parents thought it was outrageous that such topics as sex and VD should appear in a family newspaper.

A committee went to see the editor. You won hands down. I say God Bless you, and the editor. You've been an enormous influence for good in our community. You have given our children information that has molded their lives -- a job many mothers and fathers should have done, but weren't equipped to do.

The kids appreciate you, even if some of their parents don't. So do the teachers, guidance counselors and principals. God bless you, Ann. Long may you reign. -- A Real Friend

Dear Friend: Thank you.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Boardman

Boardmans mark 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Boardman, 714 Sikes Ave., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary June 2 with a buffet luncheon given in their honor by Mr. and Mrs. Paul David Boardman, a son and daughter-in-law.

Members of the immediate family were present.

The Boardmans were married June 1, 1924 by the late Rev. Thomas L. Boardman.

Attending the luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Boardman, Christy Baker, Judson Boardman Jr. and Davy Boardman of Sikeston; Mr. and Mrs. John L. E. Boardman and Debbie and Chris of Arcadia; Mrs. Ernestine Venable and Miss Carolyn Venable of Murray, Ky.; and Mark Boardman, Miss Donna Beaty and Craig Boardman of Cape Girardeau.

Meetings

THURSDAY

American Legion Auxiliary will meet at 7 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Glenn McClellan, 526 Carroll.

B&PW club plans cancer fund drive

NEW MADRID — A citywide cancer fund drive to begin Monday and continue through June 21 was planned last Monday by the Business and Professional Women's Club, sponsors of the annual American Cancer Society crusade in the city.

Club members are recruting additional volunteers to conduct the drive in all areas of the city. More than 20 residential teams will be delivering educational material and seeking donations.

Mrs. Thelma King and Mrs. Dot Halstead were named to be in charge of business contributions. Funds are to be turned in by all workers to Mrs. Velma French on Friday afternoon.

A report was heard from Mrs. Algie Phillips who represented the club April 19 at the state convention in Kansas City.

A softball program for girls, which is being organized by Gary Vaughn, was discussed. Members agreed that funds for necessary equipment should be obtained from the youth fund provided by the United Community Fund which finances the Little League program for boys.

A social night at the Hickory Log Restaurant in Dexter was scheduled for July 15. Members who wish to attend are to contact Bonnie Warren, Betty Taylor or Mary Lois Davis by July 7 so reservations can be made. The group will assemble and leave from the courthouse parking lot at 6 p.m.

NOTICE
Wedding information must be submitted to The Daily Standard within three weeks after the ceremony. Weddings one month old or older will NOT be run.

Meetings

SUNDAY

Big Ridge General Baptist Church, located southwest of Matthews, will host a Father's Day singing basket dinner and homecoming beginning at 11 a.m. at the church. The Clark Jubilee Singers from Clinton, Ky., will sing.

THURSDAY

Newcomer family potluck dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. in Clayton Park, located off West Murray Lane. All newcomers to the area are invited to come and bring a basket dinner for their family.

Allens host dinner

RISCO — Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Allen and Dickie were hosts Sunday for a family dinner at their home.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gregg and family and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Gregg of Bernie; Mrs. Myrtle Pitts and Miss Louise Weeks of Campbell; Miss Brenda Weeks of Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Burlison and Mrs. Gary Devos and daughters of Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Berry and Gary of Poplar Bluff; and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pearson and Mrs. A. J. Allen of Risco.

We are looking for exciting new or old favorite recipes from local cooks to include in The Daily Standard's special cook book section to be published early this summer. Help make this year's edition the best ever by sending recipes for any type dish to Pat Grojean, The Daily Standard, Box 100, Sikeston, Mo. 63801.

Book review

THE HUNGARIAN GAME
by Roy Hayes
(Avon 18986/$1.75
303pp.)

Classic Chess Gambit Underlies Bestselling Spy Novel-

"A weak defense," comments Remly on the "Hungarian Game" gambit, a standard chess maneuver; "not if you know how to utilize your pawns," counters his opponent, and thus sets the stage for an evenly matched game of move- countermove in Roy Hayes bestselling espionage novel THE HUNGARIAN GAME, now in Avon paperback.

The key piece in the game is Hagopian, a virtuoso assassin and borderline psychotic; the pawn exploited to anticipate and block his moves is Remly, a harassed wry US Intelligence agent more used to the petty bureaucracy -- reports in quadruplicate and padding the expense account -- of his normally dull job than to international espionage. Remly gamely stays one move behind Hagopian, unravelling a string of murders and landing in a Hungarian political prison, before he brilliantly outmaneuvers Hagopian and brings the game to checkmate.

THE HUNGARIAN GAME spent five weeks on bestseller lists following hardcover publication by Simon and Schuster last year; in addition to the Avon paperback edition, it has been sold both to foreign publishers and for a motion picture scheduled to go into production this year. The author is a former advertising executive with a better- than-working understanding of chess, as well as an aficionado's knowledge of electronic devices and obscure weapons, both utilized imaginatively in his book.

Gifts for the bride reflect new lifestyles

NEW YORK (AP) — Today's avant garde bride may wear blue jeans and carry field flowers. Most brides, however, still float down the aisle in yards of silk and lace, since tradition seems to hold sway when a girl marries. Whatever the ceremony, the contemporary bride is a different woman from her mother, with a whole new lifestyle.

Bridal registries and gift-giving services are noting trends that reflect these differences. The '70s wedding gifts, they report, are compact, mobile and easy to care for. Small electrical appliances, audio-visual equipment and linens are high on the list of preferences. Silver seems to be the one link to tradition.

According to a recent Modern Bride Magazine report, 38 per cent of today's brides have completed college. This same survey shows that 66 per cent are employed and their median age is 20.8 years. These statistics profile a better educated, career-oriented, more mature young woman whose lifestyle requires more time away from home.

The gift for the '70s bride must also fit into a shrinking environment. E. B. Weiss, "Advertising Age" social survey expert, reports that 80 per cent of America's young adults will be living in apartments by 1980. With fewer rooms, living space must be flexible, converting from sleeping to eating to entertaining and study with the push of a button.

And not only is the newlywed nest growing smaller, it is also being moved more often. Young marrieds are motivated to move for business, the second home and pleasure. Their second home may even be in a foreign country. Their possessions must be as mobile as they are.

So how to choose a bridal gift for this educated, employed new Mrs. with tuned up tastes and a yen to travel?

Nunnelee, Ryan lash opponents

Nunnelee blasted Fabick, 15-6, and Ryan Construction shelled First National Bank, 13-3 in American League contests Wednesday night.

K. Howard and Jenkins sprayed three hits apiece and Beasly and Carnell contributed two each to lead Nunnelee's 13- hit attack which produced 15 runs. Fabick collected more hits -- 17 in all -- but managed only six runs.

Watkins banged three hits and Wright, Williams, Cecil, McReynolds and Sanders two each to lead the Fabick attack. Also, Watkins, Cecil and Box had doubles and Williams a triple for Fabick, while K. Howard's triple was the only extra- base hit for Nunnelee.

Beasley was the winning pitcher over Williams.

In the other battle, Ryan drilled 16 hits, including three each by Green and Greer and two apiece by Bickford, Rice and Motton. Green, Bickford, Rice, Greer, Motton, DeCota and Litchford all had a double apiece and Long belted a triple as well as pitching a two-hit victory.

The only hits for First National were singles by Jackson and T. Sanders, and the losing moundsman was Smith.

Kiwanis, Pizza Inn win close battles

Kiwanis edged Legion, 7-6, and Pizza Inn slipped by Lions, 5-3, in a pair of close National League matches Wednesday night.

Dock took the mound win for Kiwanis but not without strong opposition from Legion, led by Copeland with three hits and Tope with two hits, including a home run. Campbell cracked a double for Kiwanis, but Self and McDowell led the scoring with two each.

Ferrell was tagged with the mound loss, although allowing only three hits.

Longstreet led the Lions' four- hit attack with a single and double, but Pizza Inn collected its five runs on the same number of hits, which were J. Laseter, Lane, G. Laseter and Lewis. Kyle and King had the other Lion hits.

All breed dog show set Saturday at Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The Southeast Missouri Kennel Club's 31st All Breed Dog Show and Obedience Trials will be held Saturday. Scheduled from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., the show will be in the Arena Building at Arena Park.

One of the few national sporting events to be held in this area, judges and entries will be in attendance from as far west as California and as far east as New York, with all areas in between, both north and south, represented.

The Southeast Missouri Kennle Club is a non-profit organization interested in the promotion of pure-bred dogs. The club is chartered by the American Kennel Club and is composed of members from Poplar Bluff, Sikeston, Charleston, Cape, Jackson and Perryville and Thebes, Ill.

A portion of the proceeds of this show will be donated to the Small Animal Clinic, School of Veterinary Medicine, University of Missorui-Columbia In the past the club has donated of $3,500 to the school.

The American Kennel Club recognizes 120 different breeds of dogs. There are 680 dogs, including 75 in obedience, entered in Saturday's show, with approximately 90 of the AKC-recognized breeds represented.

The dogs will compete for the best of breed and best of show awards.

Admission will be charged to help defray the club's expenses for building and equipment rental.

Judging schedules and catalogs listing every dog entered will be available at the show entrances.

Drive seeks bleacher repairs

The Coalesce Club is organizing a drive to get all Sikeston civic groups to join a project to repair broken and wornout bleacher seats at the city's Little League fields. Clubs are asked to donate time and/or money toward materials and work needed to rebuild the seats at Farris, Puckett and the Musial League field (shown here) near the high school field house. Any group or individual interested in helping with the two-week rebuilding project may phone either of two numbers, 471-5161 or 471-6502.

D&B, Home Materials victors in Junior Babe Ruth action

Davis & Bird tripped Hart's Bread, 7-2, and Home Materials edged the Eagles, 3-1, in Junior Babe Ruth League contests Wednesday night.

Three hits and three runs by Marks and two doubles byLimbaugh sparked Davis & Bird's victory behind five- hit pitching by Keller, who bested Hart's Davidson.

Home Materials received two hits from Lefler and runs by Longstreet, Beaudean and Vogel to support of sharp one-hit pitching by Francis. Manker collected the Eagles' lone hit and Miller scored the only run. Cloud was the victim of the mound defeat.

In Tuesday night games Bank of Sikeston drubbed Nowell Real Estate, 14-4, and Elliott- Newton pounded IBEW, 15-6.

PITCHING—Steve Carlton, Phillies, pitched a five-hitter, striking out eight Houston batters and walking four en route to a 3-0 blanking of the Astros, his third straight victory and seventh in his last eight decisions.

Flower Basket bags 29 hits; Standard nips Collins, 11-10

Twenty-nine hits were walloped by Flower Basket en route to a lopsided 22-5 win over Collins Construction Wednesday night.

The Daily Standard edged Rotary, 11-10, in the other Musial League contest.

Flower Basket's Redd bested Burnett for the mound win, as he, Ferrell, McClain, Malone and Fodge each cracked four hits and McClellan and Howard added three apiece. Burnett had a perfect night with three hits to lead a 14- hit Collins attack.

In the other hitting battle, Rotary attacked with 15 hits, including four by O'Neal and three by Beaudean. The effort was not enough, however, to match the 11 runs collected by the Standard on 13 hit. Steward was the winning pitcher over O'Neal. Moore led the winners with three hits.

In games played Tuesday night, Flower Basket pounded Bank of Sikeston, 15-2, and Malone & Hyde shut out Collins, 6-0.

Birdsrip Sutton to sweep series

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What's wrong with Don Sutton?

It's a question the Los Angeles Dodgers—and Sutton—would like to get answered, and soon, too.

The Dodgers' right-hander was knocked out of Wednesday night's 6-3 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals in the fourth inning.

It marked the sixth straight time the $114,000 pitcher has failed to post his seventh victory.

The loss was the third straight for the Dodgers, matching their longest losing streak of the season, and it cut a game off their lead in the National League West. They still lead Cincinnati by seven games.

St. Louis, with its first series sweep in Dodger Stadium in four years, moved into a virtual tie with Philadelphia for first place in the East.

"It's going to be a race over there before it's over with," St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst predicted of the West. "The Dodgers are better but the Reds are still the Reds. They're starting their run a little sooner this year, too. Anyway, we've got our hands full in our own division to be worrying about the Western Division."

Los Angeles Manager Walter Alston, said "At least we started hitting the ball a little better."

The Dodgers, who stranded 25 runners the first game against St. Louis, banged out 10 hits.

Trailing 6-1 after seven innings, the Dodgers got two runs back in the bottom of the eighth on a run-scoring double by Jimmy Wynn which was followed by a single by Steve Garvey.

In the ninth inning they opened up with successive pinch hits, by Manny Mota and Von Joshua. But Bill Russell grounded into a double play and Wynn struck out to end the flurry.

Joe Torre sparked the Cardinals' 11-hit attack with a two-run home run. He drove in three runs for the game.

He drove in a run in the first inning with an infield out and then powered his homer in the third, with Bake McBride aboard. It was Torre's fifth homer of the season and second of the series.

The Dodgers cut the deficit to two runs in the third against winner John Curtis, now 4-6, when Garvey doubled home Wynn who was aboard with a fielder's choice.

But the Cards opened a 5-1 lead in the fourth inning, chasing Sutton out of the game with a double and two more singles. They added a run in the sixth inning. Curtis singled and Brock drove a line drive to center that went for a triple when Wynn stumbled and fell as the ball rolled to the fence.

Summer orientation at SeMo State set for June and July

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The seventh annual summer orientation programm for new students at Southeast Missouri State University will run from June 19- July 26 Dick Haymes, assistant dean of students, announced today.

The program brings both beginning freshmen and transfer students and their parents to the campus for a day- and- a- half. During that period both students and parents become acquainted with some members of the faculty and administrative staff and are introduced to the university's activities, facilities, and policies.

In addition, the new students pre- enroll and leave the campus knowing what their fall class schedule will be.

"In general, we want the students to become familiar with the university so that when they arrive in the fall they are not in an unknown environment," Haymes said.

Each participant in the summer orientation completes an evaluation questionnaire at the end of his brief visit to the campus. Haymes said analyses of these evaluations from past years indicate the program is effective and is accomplishing its goals.

"Three extremely important events take place during the orientation involvement," he said.

"First, the new student and his or her parents get a good look at the university facilities. This, in itself, aids greatly in the student getting a 'feel' for his college experience.

"Second, the students, by meeting with their course advisor and going through the pre- enrollment process, know what classes they will be involved in, and thereby achieve some level of academic awareness.

"Third, they become familiar with the ideas and ideals of other students who have been at the university and who are willing to share a vast amount of information with the new student."

Haymes is responsible for the overall operation of the orientation program. Miss Cherie Schneider, Bob Bridgman, and Dan Gleissner, members of the university's housing staff, handle the day-to- day details.

A number of students are also employed to carry out the program, including five "student leaders." Student leaders for this summer are Miss Vicki Peters of Lutesville; Miss Patricia Walkenbach of St. Louis; Miss Beth Biggs of St. Louis; Miss Sue Joggerst of Ste. Genevieve, and Donnie Carter of Charleston.

Instructor proposes 'cooling off' period

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Sex before marriage and a "cooling off" period before licenses are granted could cut the nation's soaring divorce rate, says a Columbia University Medical School instructor.

Dr. Richard Gardner, an assistant clinical professor at Columbia's school of medicine, made the proposals Monday at a divorce symposium sponsored by the University of Pittsburgh Law School and the South Hills Child Guidance Center.

Gardner admitted some exceptions would be necessary to his proposed three-to-six-month waiting period for marriage licenses, such as if a woman were pregnant.

Gen. Frederic Ellis Davison, commander of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade in Vietnam, was the first Negro general to command American infantrymen in combat.

Health Service Unit sought

DEXTER — Work is under way in Stoddard County to obtain a Health Service Unit, it was noted at a recent meeting of Dexter's Community Betterment Committee.

Mrs. Sherlene Jordan has been named chairman of the Health Services Committee and pointed out that citizens have shown considerable interest in the project. Four civic groups have already committed themselves to work on the projects. Soroptimists Club, Junior Civic Club, B & PW, and American War Mothers have indicated they will assist in the program planning and promotion.

The Community Betterment program from the state level was briefly explained by chairman Bob Robins, who reported that the Chamber of Commerce had taken full responsibility for promoting Community Betterment and that Dexter was considered to be a "Class Five" city with a population from five to ten thousand. He stated that the first step after organization was to establish committees foreach phase of the program, which has been done.

Louis Jones, chairman of the leisure time activities portion of the program, reported that he had been in contact with Robert Stearnes, architect from Sikeston in an effort to secure a building to be used for planned and organized winter activities. Nothing definite was decided upon, but four buildings show possibilities, he nted.

Volleyball, basketball and ping- pong are some of the winter time activities planned. It was decided that Robins and Jones would meet with the Dexter School Board to ask for permission to use one of the high school gyms.

Lynda Dowdy, chairman of the Streets phase of the program, reported her committee was working and they had to secure several city ordinances, a street construction budget maintenance budget, and other figures. Mrs. Dowdy stated that in order to qualify for the star (in the Five Star Program) on transportation 80 percent curbing was necessary throughout the city proper and 90 per cent in the business district. The committee is to meet with an engineer to evaluate further needs for curbs and discuss proper drainage.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, July 2 at 7:30 p.m. at the City Administration Building.

What's the law?

The case of the artful Grandpa

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Joan's husband couldn't make both ends meet because he made one end drink. Consequently, he ultimately just upped and disappeared, leaving Joan and their two children to fend for themselves. With no where else to turn, Joan turned to her aged but artful father.

Already collecting Social Security, he merely adopted his two grandchildren and began receiving additional Social Security payments for their support.

Crafty? The Department of Public Welfare thought it was more like sneaky. Upon discovering "grandpa's" scheme, they started immediate proceedings in court to have the adoptions revoked.

"The two kids were adopted for purely mercenary reasons," the judge was told. "Consequently, the motive for the adoptions was downright dishonest. What's more, they weren't in the best interests of the children."

"If obtaining money to feed my grandchildren wasn't in their best interests," responded the creeky old grandfather, "then I'm Superman. As for my honesty, if money is the root of all evil, it just goes to show how good and honest I am 'cause I've got no money."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you revoke the adoptions?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that the motive for an adoption cannot be based solely upon addiitional funds being made available to support children under their grandfather's Social Security status. Legal custody of children, concluded the judge, cannot be commercialized.

There's a Navy enlistment just right for you.

Your period of active duty can range from 4 months up to 6 years.

Never has the Navy offered so wide a choice of enlistments. You can sign up for as little as 4 months of active duty in the Navy "4x10" reserve program. If you have what it takes, you serve as little as 4 months of active duty, followed by active duty sessions of one evening a week or one weekend a month, and two weeks duty every summer for the balance of your six year obligation. One of the other opportunities is a full six-year enlistment in the regular Navy with highly-specialized training in a wide range of enlistment choices, along with your fair share of hard work and housekeeping chores. Find out more. If you are looking for a challenge—if you want to be Someone Special—stop in and see your local Navy recruiter today.

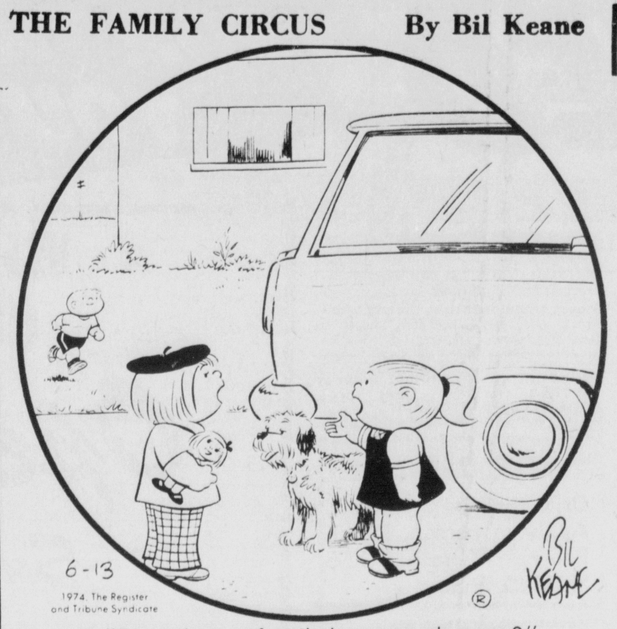
THE FAMILY CIRCUS By Bil Keane



"Doesn't your family have another car?"
"No, our car is an ONLY car."

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, June 13, the 164th day of 1974. There are 201 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1956, Britain turned the Suez Canal over to Egypt after having operated the waterway for 74 years.

On this date—

In 1502, Christopher Columbus discovered the West Indian island of Martinique.

In 1841, the first Canadian Parliament opened in Ottawa.

In 1917, Gen. John Pershing and his headquarters staff arrived in Paris in World War I.

In 1942, the U.S. Office of War Information was created, with broadcaster and writer Elmer Davis as director.

Also in 1942, the British lost 230 tanks in fighting against the Germ... in the North African desert.

In 1967, Thurgood Marshall became the first black to be named to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Ten years ago: Communist China demanded that the 14 nations which had signed the 1962 Geneva accord on Indochina hold emergency discussions to avert the danger of an extension of warfare in Laos.

Five years ago: Israel said it was firmly opposed to continued Big Four efforts to settle the Middle East dispute.

One year ago: President Nixon ordered a 60-day freeze on all retail prices, including food, to combat inflation.

Today's birthdays: Former football star Red Grange is 71. Atomic physicist Luis Alvarez is 63. Former boxing champion Mickey Walker is 73.

Thought for today: We have two ears and only one tongue in order that we may hear more and speak less — Diogenes, Greek philosopher, about 412-323 B.C.

They'll Do It Every Time

CARNIVAL by Dick Turner

"One good thing about inflation . . . it makes more room for us kids in these carts!"

SIDE GLANCES by Gill Fox

"This is my son Robert. I think he's bright enough but I haven't understood a word he's said since he was 14!"

2. Card of Thanks

I would like to thank all the people for their thoughfulness, during my illness. I would like to thank the First Baptist Church of Bertrand and all of the other churches for their prayers and flowers, and those who gave blood. Special thanks to Dr. Robins and Dr. Heeb, and all of the staff of the Sikeston Mo. Hospital. You were all so nice.
Thank You Luther Brown.

The ice cream sundae, one of today's most popular ice cream desserts, was born in Evanston, Illinois because of a strange law. When a law was passed forbidding the sale of ice cream sodas on Sunday, local merchants got around it by serving ice cream with just syrup. The "sodaless soda" came to be known as a "Sunday" but then objections arose naming a dessert after the Lord's Day, so it became known as a sundae, but it, like the soda, was not banned.

Something that homemakers like more than an ice cream sundae, a Miracle Water Refiner, was born not because of any law, but to create clean, refreshing sparkling water throughout your home. The Miracle Water Refiner not only softens, it cleans, removes taste and odor such as chlorine and it filters your water as well. Once you see and enjoy the difference, you will never want to go back to ordinary tap water. Your cooked foods will taste better, your floors and walls will sparkle, your laundry will smell fresher, be softer and cleaner. Call Braswell and find out more about this modern wonder today.

Extension cord causes fire

A faulty extension cord set fire to some brooms in the kitchen of Kellett's Restaurant, Highway 61 South, at 7:07 p.m. Wednesday.

A Greyhound Bus Driver grabbed the brooms and tossed them out the back door but the burning brooms landed under two fully-loaded gasoline tanker trucks.

Firemen extinguished the blaze before any damage was done.

Firemen said the fire started in a faulty extension cord on a fan in the kitchen.

There was no damage to the kitchen, firemen said.

Western Days set

BERNIE — The fourth annual Western Days will be held June 21-22 in downtown Bernie with sidewalk sales both days and many bargains offered by local merchants.

A street dance is scheduled from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday featuring a rock band.

A parade begins at 2 p.m. Saturday followed by such festivities as an old fashioned gun fight, watermelon eating, pie eating, root beer drinking, and tale spinning contests.

Anyone wishing to enter floats in the parade are asked to contact Mrs. Melba Thurston, Ledndal Buttry, Ron Walker or any member of the Retail Merchants Committee.

1 seriously injured

Deborah Ann Howington, 19, of 101 Link Drive, escaped serious injury Wednesday night when she was struck by a pickup truck while riding her bicycle.

She was treated for multiple scratches and bruises at Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Police said Miss Howington apparently rode her bicycle onto North Main Street from Wakefield about 9 p.m. and was hit by a pickup truck.

The driver of the truck reportedly stopped to assist her. Another passerby took Miss Howington to the hospital. The truck driver left before police could get his name.

Accident injures 3

BENTON — Three persons received minor injuries in a one-car traffic accident Wednesday one mile north of Benton on Interstate 55 when the driver of the car and a passenger became involved in a scuffle.

The highway patrol reported today that Jackson Quisenberry, 61, of Cape Girardeau and a passenger, Jasper McKeller, 67, of Cape Girardeau began scuffling in the front seat of Quisenberry's car when McKeller grabbed the steering wheel, causing the car to run off the road and strike a sign.

Quisenberry, McKeller and Quisenberry's wife, Inolia, 40, received minor injuries and were taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Barnes returned to jail

BLOOMFIELD Kenneth Wayne Barnes, 28, of Hannibal, who escaped April 21 from the Stoddard County jail is back in custody today, according to the sheriff's department.

Barnes was arrested Wednesday night in Hannibal.

He was being held awaiting sentencing after he pleaded guilty in Circuit Court to a charge of writing a no funds check with intent to defaud.

Tape player stolen

A tape player and one tape were taken from a car belonging to Millie Kettles, 249 W. Kathleen Ave., while the car was parked at her house, police said today.

The theft occurred sometime Tuesday and Wednesday. No value was given for the player or tape.

A billfold containing $48 in cash was taken from a purse belonging to Mrs. Jim Turner, 424 S. Kingshighway. The theft was discovered Monday night.

The purse was in the bedroom at the time of the theft.

Commission said, but port authorities could and would attract the industries to those towns.

"If you don't do it (create a port authority) you're out," Lea said. "If you try to do it individually, you're out," he added.

Phil Shelton of the BRPC promised to meet with county courts over the next few weeks to work out the necessary steps for applying for permission to establish a port authority.

State Sen. Albert Spradling, one of the principal sponsors on the bill, will speak at 7:30 p.m. today to the New Madrid Chamber of Commerce at the Bank of New Madrid Community Room. He will discuss the port authority plan.

Lindsey charged

BLOOMFIELD — Don "Mudcat" Lindsey of Bernie has been charged with felonious assault in connection with the May 4 incident which resulted in the death of Leonard Stanfield of Bernie, according to the Stoddard County Sheriff's Department.

Preliminary hearing for Lindsay was set June 20 today in Magistrate Court.

The charge stems from an argument May 4 between the men outside a department store in Bernie. Stoddard County Coroner Ray Rainey said today the men began arguing in a tavern when Lindsey accused Stanfield of stealing $20. Stanfield left to make a purchase at the department store, Lindsey followed him and the argument took place. Lindsey struck Stanfield, who fell to the ground. He died the next day of an intra- cranial hemorrhage in Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

The finding of a coroner's inquest June 10 was that Stanfield died of unnatural causes contributed to by an act of violence. However, there was no conclusive evidence that there was criminal intent.

School board to help secure recreational space

DEXTER — After conferring with school board members Tuesday night, representatives of Dexter's Community Betterment Committee were assured of obtaining assistance from the board to secure recreational space for the program's projects.

Bob Robins, chairman of the committee, along with Lewis Jones, chairman of the Recreational Phase, met with board members to petition use of either the Junior High Gym or the Senior High Sym, or, if possible both, during the winter months for such sports as volleyball, basketball, etc. The winter recreational program evolves around efforts to achieve in the Community Betterment's Five Star Program, of which one program is recreational. The State Committee requires that a city the size of Dexter, in order to achieve a star, must be quipped with a thorough winter activities program.

Jones informed the board that four buildings were available: the armory, junior high, senior high and the housing authority. The armory was ruled out when it was learned that the ceiling is faulty and would not withstand the pressure of such vigorous sports. The housing authority building is not large enough for some of the planned events. Jones explained to the board the need for gym space on weeknights and some weekends whenever possible.

Loren Coffeey, board president, assured Jones that the space would be available some weeknights, but that both gyms follow a tight winter schedule. Arrangements will be made to secure the gym on Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday for adult winter sports.

Bids were read to the board last night for purchase of the Dexter High School Building Trades Class house, which was entirely built by the students. The house, which is located on One Mile Road, was sold to Mrs. Esther Worley, the highest bidder, for $36,568.00. A motion was passed to accept the bid.

Two representatives of the local Little League, Dale Hartline and Charles Felker, addressed the board Tuesday to assure their stand as to use of the Little League field located next to the Junior High School Building. The field is used throughout the summer months for Dexter's ball games. Felker and Hartline wanted assurance that the field would remain available indefinitely. Superintendent Hill told the two that the field was theirs to use in the summer months. Some repair in the field is needed, Hartline said.

A request to resurface a sidewalk located in front of the high school was declined by the board Tuesday. Members were asked to secure a total of $450 in costs to replace the cracked walk. Hill stated that the walk was not in extreme need of repair at this time.

Another request to install new windows in the cafeteria of Central Elementary School also was declined. The windows, which are steel-framed, are apparently showing signs of rust. The windows are periodically painted, Hill stated that "there is no need for total replacement."

Dennis Burns has been employed with the school system as custodian and board members noted that the school is short of janitorial help.

A motion was made to allow city officials to blacktop a portion of property located in front of the junior high school for the full length of the building. The sidewalk lining that area is badly breaking it was learned. The street is scheduled to be blacktopped this summer so workers will just extend their work and cover the damaged area.

The board decided that the school would purchase new backing for the high school auditorium drapes, which have been up 13 years without re-backing. At the same time, new drapes will be installed at the high school cafeteria at a total cost of $904 for both projects. The board will hire a local firm to do the work.

An auditor from Cape Girardeau who has audited Dexter books since 1939 has once again been secured to perform the task this year.

Applications for the 1974-75 school year programs were read and approved. A list of programs and finances needed for each was approved also.
